NAB NOTED SLEUTH

ELLIS PARKER SR.

PARKER ARREST HITS HOFFMAN

Brings Up Question Whether Governor Will Extradite Sleuth in Wendel Case

CHARGED WITH KIDNAPING

Executive Said Some Time Ago He Would Not Sign Papers Turning Him Over

By The Associated Press

MT HOLLY N J June 4—The arrest of Ellis Parker Sr, chief of Burlington county detectives on a charge of kidnaping and assaulting Paul H Wendel threw into the lap of Gov Harold G Hoffman today new responsibility in the bizarre sequel of the Lindbergh baby murder

Whether Hoffman would extradite Parker his friend and trusted investigator to New York to face trial on Wendel's charge that he was tortured into falsely confessing the kidnaping of little Charles A Lindbergh Jr was a question

Opposed to Extradition

The governor declared some time ago that he would not do so on the strength of information then available

Parker was arrested last night as he sat with a group of friends on the porch of the Mt Holly Elks club A grand jury in Brooklyn N Y had indicted him three hours earlier

The widely known sleuth stood blinking in amazement as the warrant was read to him Then he put on his glasses and scrutinized it for himself Granted an immediate hearing in the club house he provided $500 bail and went home to bed

Parker said he would fight extradition to the end"

I would be a fool not to do so he added

Governor Silent

Hoffman apprised of Parker's arrest while at a lodge initiation in Hackensack declined to comment at this time

Parker Sr was the sixth man whose indictment was obtained by District Attorney William F X Geoghan of kings county (Brooklyn) The indictment returned today superseded the previous one naming both Parkers and omitting Harry Bledfield who died while out on bail Parker Jr is a fugitive and the others named in both bills all Brooklyn men are under bond

Brooklyn authorities charged Parker planned the abduction of Wendel former Trenton attorney and took charge of the questioning that led to Wendel's discredited confession of the kidnaping of Lindbergh's infant son

Trio Serves Warrant

Three Brooklyn detectives Francis A Madden assistant district attorney of Brooklyn and Detective Louis Bornmann of the New Jersey state police served the warrant on Parker

He signed his own property bond before Justice of the Peace John Throckmorton Madden had demanded that heavy bail be set

Parker's attorney James Mercer Davis Sr hastily summoned from Camden said he assumed Madden would take Parker's case before Gov Hoffman without delay

Wendel charged he was seized in Brooklyn and held there until he confessed the kidnaping Then he asserted as Parker's guest he was held in the state colony for the feeble-minded New Lisbon N J, until a few days before Bruno Richard Hauptmann was due the second time to go to the electric chair as the slayer of the Lindbergh baby

Taken to Trenton

Wendel was taken to Trenton and locked up on the charge for which Hauptmann was to die.

Wendel's case was taken before the Mercer County (N J) grand jury The foreman asked the warden of the state prison to delay Hauptmann's execution until the grand jury investigation ended The warden agreed

After two days of inquiry, in which Parker was heard the grand jury refused to indict Wendel, clearing him of the Lindburgh case Hauptmann died in the chair.

Wendel meanwhile communicated with Attorney General David T Wilentz, who prosecuted Hauptmann

RECESS BEFORE G.O.P. POWWOW HELD HOPELESS

Senate Which Had Expected To Pass Tax Bill Today Adjourns After Byrns Death

PLAN PASSAGE TOMORROW

Final Action on Measure Before Republican Convention Not Likely, However

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 4 — Congressional leaders today abandoned all hope of adjourning congress before the Republican national convention in view of the death of Speaker Byrns

The senate which had expected to pass the tax bill today in an effort to wind up the session Monday night recessed immediately when it met at 10 a m out of respect to the speaker who died suddenly during the night.

Leaders said the would still try to pass the bill tomorrow or Saturday in order to get the controversial measure into conference, but that there was virtually no prospect for final action on it before the Republican convention beginning Tuesday

They said that with the tax bill in conference three days recesses would be taken during the convention and that an effort would be made to complete action on the conference report and adjourn congress finally during the week between the Republican and Democratic conventions

Sen Robinson of Arkansas the Democratic leader discounted forecasts that if congress returned after the Republican convention the session would last indefinitely to consider other legislation pressing for action

He said that as soon as the tax and relief bills were on the statute books congress would adjourn regardless of the status of other legislation

Bell Signal Needed

A recess subject to the call of the chair enables Vice President Garner to reconvene the senate by having officials give the necessary bell signals

In the tax debate a three sided struggle was coming to a head La Follette Progressive of Wisconsin prepared to make a two-hour speech in an attempt to swing the senate closer to stiff graduated levies on undivided corporate income which also have been sought by the Roosevelt administration

Sen Lewis of Illinois Democratic whip prepared on the other hand to introuce a motion to send the whole bill back to committee and defer consideration of taxes until next year

But powerful segments of the senate were behind the senate bill in its present form and leaders hoped to pass it quickly and send it along to the house which already has approved a measure much more in line with President Roosevelt's desires

But in the house there were rumblings of trouble to come Legislators heard reports that President Roosevelt may compromise and swing toward the senate bill which would mean that salient features of the house measure for which new dealers in that chamber had fought long and hard might be scrapped

The senate had approved virtually all features of its bill except the undistributed profits tax last night when leaders decided to recess until today because the chamber got into a bad humor

Besides the 7 per cent levy on undistributed corporate profits the measure is featured by a 15% to 18 per cent levy on corporate net income the highest surtaxes on individual incomes in surtax brackets above $8 000

COUNTY REALTY TAX COLLECTION $518,317

Less Than December Payments Last Year, Distribution Set for Tomorrow

Miss Edith Eibling tax deputy in the county auditor's office announced today that $518 317 99 collected in the December real estate tax collection period will be distributed among the subdivisions of the county Friday

This announcement follows approval of the semi annual settlement of taxes between the county auditor and county treasurer by State Auditor Joseph T Tracy The December tax collection period closed several weeks ago

The total of $518.317.99 includes current real estate taxes delinquencies and special assessments This is $3,383 42 under the December collection last year, when the county treasurer took in $521 701 41. Treasurer Homer D Cole said this drop is due to the reduction in the number of Home Owners Loan Corp loans this year There were more than twice as many loans made last year on properties on which taxes were paid by the government, he explained.

Miss Eibling said a detailed account of the distribution of tax money and a report of the separate amounts collected in current taxes, delinquencies and special assessments will be ready for publication Friday.

BLUM BECOMES PARIS Ppremier

List of Ministers Ready While Strike Paralyzes Nation's Industries

500 000 REFUSE TO WORK

Socialist Called to Power Within Two Hours After Resignation of Sarraut

(Copyright 1936 by United Press)

PARIS June 4—The third republic called its first Socialist premier—the cultured well dressed Leon Blum—to take power today over a France chaotic with industrial strikes

President Albert Lebrun entrusted the Socialist leader with the task of forming the 101st cabinet during the 65 years of the republic's history

As Blum went to the Elysee palace with his tentative list of ministers already made up France was in the midst of strikes which unofficially were estimated to embrace approximately 500 000 workers

Called in Right Away

Blum was called to power within two hours after Premier Albert Sarraut and his coalition cabinet had resigned

The strike movement was met suddenly by a refusal on the part of the metal industry to conduct any further negotiations with strikers until the latter evacuate more than 200 factories

Blum May Halt Strike

Even as Leon Blum Socialist leader prepared to assume the premiership reports in the chamber lobbies had it he might order Communists to call off their strikes as soon as he became head of the government.

The action of the metal industry employers was in direct contrast to that of employers at the central markets in Paris who yielded to the demands of strikers for pay increases

Threats of a food shortage in the capital apparently were averted but the metal industries develop

Roosevelt Will Attend Funeral At Nashville

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 4—President Roosevelt the White House announced today will attend the state funeral for Speaker Byrns at the Capitol tomorrow and will accompany the funeral train and attend the burial services at Nashville Tenn

Stephen T Early a presidential secretary said the President's trip to Texas would start Monday night He will return to the capital from the funeral services before starting for the west

Plans of the President between the burial services and the first speaking stop on his western trip at Little Rock Ark set for June 10 will be held in abeyance pending the decision of the late speaker's family as to the time and place of the burial

The President issued a statement soon after being informed by Mrs Roosevelt of the speaker's sudden death saying he personally mourned the passing of a steadfast friend of many years"

The statement follows:

Speaker Byrns belonged to that school of statesmen which is the hope and justification of our democracy

By a happy coincidence he represented for more than a quarter of a century the Hermitage district of Tennessee a district of sentimental significance because it holds the sacred dust of Andrew Jackson and there was about Speaker Byrns a simplicity and rugged honesty which we have come to associate with the name of Jackson

Fearless incorruptible unselfish with a high sense of justice wise in counsel broad of vision calm in adversity and modest in victory he served his state and the nation with fidelity honor and great usefulness

I personally mourn the passing of a steadfast friend of man, years

RUNYAN LEADS FIELD IN TOURNEY OPENER

Fires 35-34--69, Three Under Par, To Top Picard by One Shot in Jersey.

By The Associated Press

BALTUSROL GOLF CLUB, SPRINGFIELD N J—Blistering the incoming half of the Baltusrol course diminutive Paul Runyan, the Arkansas-born professional from the Metropolis club of White Plains, N Y, fired a 35-34—69, three under par, today to take a one-shot lead in the first round of the United States open golf championship He holed out a 125-yard mashie niblick shot on the 502-yard 11th, longest hole on the course, for an eagle three

Runyan's electrifying performance, the best he has ever shown in this tournament, overhauled tall Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., professional heavily-backed favorite, who had set the early pace with a sub-par 70s

The former national P. G. A. champion gained a two stroke margin over blonde Craig Wood of West Orange, N. J., Ted Longworth of Portland, Ore., and Harry Cooper, Chicago professional, all with 71.

Among those in pursuit, Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., tall, handsome and one of the longest hitters in the professional brigade, set a new low mark of 32, three under par, for the outgoing nine.

Runyan's 69 clipped a stroke off the competitive record for the opening round, which Picard [illegible] last year by [illegible]

15 MORE NIGHT RIDERS SOUGHT

Warrants Issued in Detroit for Alleged Members of Black Legion

FOUR BOUND FOR TRIAL

Quartet at Jackson Accused of Beating Man Who Refused To Attend Meetings.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT June 4—The roundup of the Black legion took on new impetus today with the issuance of warrants for 15 more men accused of membership in the terrorist organization on charges of abducting and flogging an Detroit steel worker before a large crowd of Black legion members

The new warrants brought to 32 the number accused here of night riding activities while in Jackson four others were bound over for trial today on charges of beating a member with a black snake whip because he refused to attend meetings

Held in Poole Death

Seventeen of the accused here are charged with the murder of Charles A Poole in a ritual execution which brought to light the existence of the hooded order

Three of the men named in the new warrants are in custody The charges against them were filed as a state grand jury investigation of the Black legion opened here with Police Inspector John A Hoffman appearing with a bulging brief case of data on the ramifications and activities of the secret society

Prosecuting Attorney Duncan C McCrea said the three men in custody had admitted the abduction of Robert Perkins of Fraser declaring they acted on orders of superior officers in the Black legion

Names Trio Held

The three held he said are Thomas F Cox Frededrick A Quiles and Earl Angstadt The other 12 are sought on John Doe warrants

Dayton Dean, who blandly ignored the protests of his own attorney and glares of his 14 fellow defendants as he told yesterday of pumping pistol shots into the kneeling form of Charles A. Poole because "you do what you're told to do in the Black legion," was segregated from the other defendants—for his own protection

Examination Halts

The murder examination was in adjournment until Monday, but Circuit Judge James K. Chenot prepared to open a grand jury investigation of a reign of terror ascribed to the hooded order.

By The Associated Press

BETHLEHEM, Pa June 4—Wesley L. Clow, Lehigh university senior of Pine Castle, Fla., slew an instructor, Charles Wesley Phy, then shot himself to death today in an argument over a re-examination.

The young instructor employed in the English department was shot twice in the chest. Clow shot himself in the head.

Harry T. Snavely, a student of Lancaster, Pa., said he witnessed the argument and shooting in a recitation room.

It was said at the university that Clow had an average examination rating less than four points per subject on a passing grade.

After shooting Phy, Clow ran into the hall and turned the gun on himself. The instructor lived but a few minutes. Clow failed to respond to emergency treatment at

HOUSE LEADERS HASTEN CHOICE

Resolution Elevating Alabama Representative to Chair Put Through in Five Minutes

FUNERAL PLANS ARRANGED

Committee Decides To Hold State Rites in Lower Chamber Tomorrow at Noon

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4—Rep. William B Bankhead of Alabama today was elected speaker of the house to succeed Joseph Wellington Byrns of Tennessee who died last night

The Democratic floor leader was elevated to the chair shortly after sorrowing house members were called to order by the clerk Sloan Trimble

Trimble announced a motion to name a speaker or speaker pro tempore was in order

O'Connor Offers Bill

Chairman O'Connor Democrat of New York of the rules committee submitted the following resolution

"Resolved that the Hon William B Bankhead a representative from the state of Alabama be and is hereby elected speaker of the house of representatives Resolved that the President and the senate be notified of the election of Rep Bankhead as speaker

The resolution was adopted by a voice vote The entire proceedure consumed less than five minutes

Members of the house stood silently with bowed heads as Trimble told the house it was his sad and painful duty to announce the sudden and unexpected death of the beloved Speaker Joseph W Byrns"

Applause Quickly Hushed

After his election Bankhead walked down the aisle There was a scattering of applause quickly hushed by "No noa from the chamber

The oath of office was administered by Rep Sabath Democrat of Illinois dean of the house

Members throughout the chamber were visibly affected as the chaplain James Shera Montgomery read Pennyson's 'Crossing the Bar'

The house then adopted McReynolds resolution formally expressing profound sorrow and providing for the appointment of a committee of four to make arrangements for a state funeral in the house chamber and for a committee of 30 house members to attend the funeral in Nashville

The new speaker appointed Representatives O'Connor Democrat of New York Taylor Democrat of Colorado McReynolds and Snell, Republicans of New York as the committee on arrangements

State Funeral Tomorrow

The committee announced that the state funeral for Speaker Byrns would be held in the house chamber tomorrow at noon

Rep McReynolds said the funeral party would entrain at 4 50 p m tomorrow over the Southern railroad for Nashville Tenn, arriving there at 12 30 p m Saturday

The funeral there will be held immediately after arrival

McReynolds announcement came after he had conferred with Mrs Byrns and Joseph W Byrns Jr, who arrived by plane from Nashville at 11 a. m.

McReynolds said the deceased speaker had asked Mrs Byrns that in the event he died, he wanted the house chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, to go to Nashville to hold the funeral

The house adjourned at 11:17 a. m, just 16 minutes after convening

A totally unexpected heart attack, followed by a cerebral hemorrhage, brought death at 12:15 a m Marion time today to the Tennessee farm boy who rose to wield the speaker's gavel during a period in which much history was made. He would have been 67 years old next July 20.

Causes Unanimity

The passing of this tall and rangy pillar of his party in the turbulent hours of hard fighting between the new deal and its foes plunged the legislative situation into further uncertainty. Almost until the hour he was stricken Byrns had labored all he termed dour pace to pass this program through congress swiftly so the session could end Saturday if possible

Friends believed the hard work he insisted on doing may have hastened the fatal attack Many observers believed that with the speaker gone the session now may last well into next week or perhaps longer.

Soon after Byrns died in his room at the Maddox hotel, with sorrowing relatives at his side, the word flashed around the capitol. Leaders decided not to notify President Roosevelt until later in the morning, but others soon were informed.

Wife at Deathbed

Those present at the deathbed were Mrs Byrns, two brothers, H J Byrns of Washington and John Byrns of Cincinnati, Mrs M

WAR SABOTAGE CASE REOPENED

$50,000,000 Black Tom and Kingsland Munitions Probe May Be Reopened.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 4 — Reopening of a $50,000,000 claim against Germany for sabotage in the wartime Black Tom and Kingsland munitions disasters in New Jersey today appeared imminent.

Unanimously the German-American mixed claims commission late yesterday reversed a 1932 decision which absolved Germany of responsibility for the two disasters which destroyed millions of dollars worth of war materials.

Started 20 Years Ago

Pending an informal meeting of the commission to map its future course, official spokesmen for this country were reluctant to predict exact procedure. The commission's decision, however, ordered submission of new briefs and arguments as the next step.

The Black Tom terminal, owned by the Lehigh railroad, was destroyed the night of July 30, 1916, along with more than 250 carloads of munitions intended for enemies of Germany.

(The Kingsland munitions assembly plant was wrecked Jan. 11, 1917, by fire and explosions while work was being done on a huge order for the Russian government.

Accuse German Spies

Both disasters preceded America's entrance into the World war. American officials have charged that paid spies and secret agents of the German government were responsible.)

The claims tribunal in a decision at the Hague in 1929 ruled that American claimants had failed to prove that the German government was responsible.

The 1932 decision, which was reversed today, denied the petition of Americans claimants to reopen the entire case on the basis of "newly discovered" evidence which the Americans contended linked the German government with both disasters.

Second Request In 1933

A second request by American claimants to reopen the case was made in 1933. This was based on the claim that German witnesses and officials had "misled" the commission by "fraud, collusion and suppression" of evidence at the previous hearings.

The unanimous opinion yesterday said that the commission now must conduct a hearing on the two reopening petitions before it decides whether the 1930 Hague ruling "may be set aside."

The Stars Say--

For Friday, June 5

This promises to be a memorable and eventful day, with great benefit looming large, but all calling for very judicious and sagacious management. While important opportunities will open for increased finances, enhance business popularity and social prestige, with the indorsement of those in the seats of the mighty, yet there are many attendant pitfalls and menaces which are designed to "upset the apple cart," unless manipulated with calmness and prudence. Shun speculation, travel, scandal and strife.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which a good stroke of fortune awaits if prudence, wisdom and sagacity are permitted to reign instead of reckless and quarrelsome behavior and unsound speculation and "plunges." There are portents of slander, gossip, intrigue and subtle attack and distortion. Make changes cautiously.

A child born on this day may have a reckless, extravagant, impetuous and ambitious nature, which may lead it to the heights of success and popularity with corresponding reversals.

BIBLE TEACHER

REV. RALPH E. STEWART

INSTITUTE PLANNED AT MORRAL CHURCH

Rev. R. E. Stewart Will Conduct One-Day Service Friday.

Congregations of churches in Morral and vicinity are invited to join the Morral Baptist church group for a one-day Bible conference Friday, at which Rev. Ralph E. Stewart of Columbus will be the speaker. The conference is being sponsored by the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

Rev. Stewart, who recently resigned a pastorate at Columbus to join the extension staff of the Moody Institute, is said to command an evangelistic method that meets modern needs and demonstrates that evangelism still lives. He is becoming widely known as a Bible teacher with an unusual appeal for youth. His voice and style in radio broadcasts have won him a wide following in that field as well as in the pulpit.

Sessions will be held at 2:30 and 7:45 p. m. Rev. Charles Hart, pastor of the Morral Baptist church, a classmate of Rev. Stewart at Moody Bible Institute, will preside.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Height.

I RECEIVE many letters requesting information about height. These inquiries come mostly from young adults who wish to increase their stature. The day I wrote this I received a letter from a young high school student; he is unhappy because he is too short to play on the school football team.

Recently another letter came, this one from a young man desirous of entering the military academy at West Point. He had passed all the mental and other examinations, but unfortunately is below the height requirement. Naturally, he is anxious to learn how to increase his height, so that he may realize his ambition.

Many persons are sensitive, not liking to be short. They resort to every possible means of becoming taller. But, sad to say, there is little that can be done to increase height.

How tall one is to be is little influence by exercise, habit or diet. It is in reality a pre-determined factor, usually controlled by heredity. This is a factor that can rarely, if ever, be altered.

No doubt this will surprise you. Many of my readers believe that heredity is not necessarily the influencing factor. It is repeatedly pointed out that both parents were tall and consequently it is difficult to understand why the child should be short. These writers fail to recall that if they traced back far enough they would find grandparents or other forebears were short of stature.

Of course, it is important to bear in mind that certain internal structures known as the "ductless glands" supply certain substances. The secretion of these glands influences the growth and development of the body. One such a gland is the "pituitary."

This gland is close to the brain, located just above the nasal cavities. It regulates three important bodily functions, namely growth, weight and regulation of reproduction.

If there is less than the usual quantity of secretion from this gland, the normal growth may not take place. When this occurs the afflicted person does not develop, but remains a dwarf.

Occasionally the pituitary gland becomes irritated for some reason and pours out too great an amount of glandular secretion. Then the growth may be enormously stimulated and the poor victim becomes a giant. Fortunately, abnormalities in growth can often be controlled, especially if the disturbance is mild in its nature.

This is accomplished by the administration of an extract of certain portions of the pituitary gland. This preparation should only be given under the supervision of a physician. In attempting to deal with any glandular disturbance, constant medical supervision is required. Self-medication is dangerous and should never be resorted to, certainly in these conditions.

Answers to Health Queries.

G.H.K. Q.—What should a girl 17 years of age, 5 feet 3 inches tall weigh? 2: I am troubled with nervousness. I can't sleep at night because I have many bad dreams. What would you advise?

A.—You should weigh approximately 118 pounds as determined by examination of a number of people. 2: Nervousness can usually be traced to some definite source. Make every effort to improve the general health. For full particulars restate your question and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Get Rid of Ugly FAT

And You'll Feel and Look Years Younger

No matter how hard you have tried to reduce without good results, you owe it to yourself to try Korjena, the famous fat reducer.

We recommend and sell Korjena Tablets because they are a scientific enemy to fat. They dissolve the fat, making it become liquid so it passes from the bowels through daily elimination. You can actually see fat disappear with the very first two weeks treatment.

A Detroit lady writes: Korjena is the only reducing treatment that gave me results. I lost 3 to 4 pounds a week. The most remarkable thing about Korjena is that I feel fine. Signed: Mrs. Ann Jaminet, 1085 West Euclid, Detroit, Mich.

It's easy, simply take one tiny Korjena Tablet after each meal. EAT WHAT YOU WANT but eat moderately, no violent exercise, no tiresome waiting, no strict diet. Soon you will see a decided change. Ugly surplus fat where most prominent gradually disappears leaving your skin smooth and firm.

Enjoy the sensation of seeing that burdensome fat just melt away. Surprise your friends by having a trim and slender figure. Korjena is Guaranteed SAFE—it's harmless and not expensive. Don't wait, give this marvelous reducing treatment a trial. If not delighted in two weeks, we'll see that your money is promptly refunded.

Remember: Korjena Constantly Dissolves Fat

"Blood Pressure down 15 Points in 11 days," says Mrs. T. J. Oswalt of Alliance, Ohio "My blood pressure went down 15 points in 11 days and my Doctor advised me to continue taking your treatment." (Signed) Mrs. T. J. Oswalt.

PRESBYTERIANS PLAN WAR POLL

Vote-Opinion of Members Concerning Conscientious Objectors.

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, June 4—The 148th general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America voted at its closing session yesterday to ask its 279 presbyteries whether the church constitution should be amended to exempt "conscientious objectors" from participating in war.

The delegates selected Columbus, O., for the 1937 convention and adopted a far-reaching social welfare program high-lighted by strong criticism of liquor traffic and an urgent appeal for stricter law enforcement, particularly in regard to drunken driving.

If ratified by two-thirds of the presbyteries under jurisdiction of the general assembly, the war prohibition proposal will be submitted to the 1937 assembly for acceptance or rejection.

Adopt Welfare Program

The broad social welfare program was adopted after some special debate.

Part of the program called for condemnation of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

It while acknowledging our sins along with other peoples of the earth to meet the just need for fairer distribution of raw materials and foods without which the danger of war can scarcely be removed, we express our condemnation of the wrong which the country of Ethiopia had recently had to bear."

Rev. Aristide Malnverni of Brooklyn sought to amend the program to condemn "every act of aggression and violence by any individual or nation."

"Why condemn Italy, while nothing is said about Japan?" he asked. Rev. William Lloyd Imes of New York, pastor of one of the largest Negro churches in the Presbyterian church in the United States, interrupted to shout from the floor that "persecution of people of African origin must cease, in this or in any other country."

Strike at Floggings

In addition, the program called for:

Abolition of compulsory military training, elimination of "cheap and unworthy motion pictures," anti-child labor legislation and repeal of laws legalizing gambling.

The assembly condemned the "usurpation of legal procedure by secret or unauthorized parties and organizations, leading to floggings, lynchins or murder."

It did not specifically mention the "Black legion" now under investigation, but urged "Christian people to give vigorous support to all legislation which will eliminate the evil of taking human life without the due process of law."

LIQUOR VIOLATORS FINED IN BUCYRUS

By The Associated Press

BUCYRUS, June 4—On authority of a decision of the Cuyahoga appellate court, Judge C. U. Ahl, Wednesday, ruled out a plea that possession of liquor in containers without seals is unconstitutional and pronounced sentence on three Galion and Crestline liquor violators arrested last week.

Raymond Ybarra, 36, of Galion, Frank Parella, 60, of Galion and Joe Campannella, 55, of Crestline, were given fines of $25 each and costs. Ybarra was unable to pay his fine and was returned to the county jail.

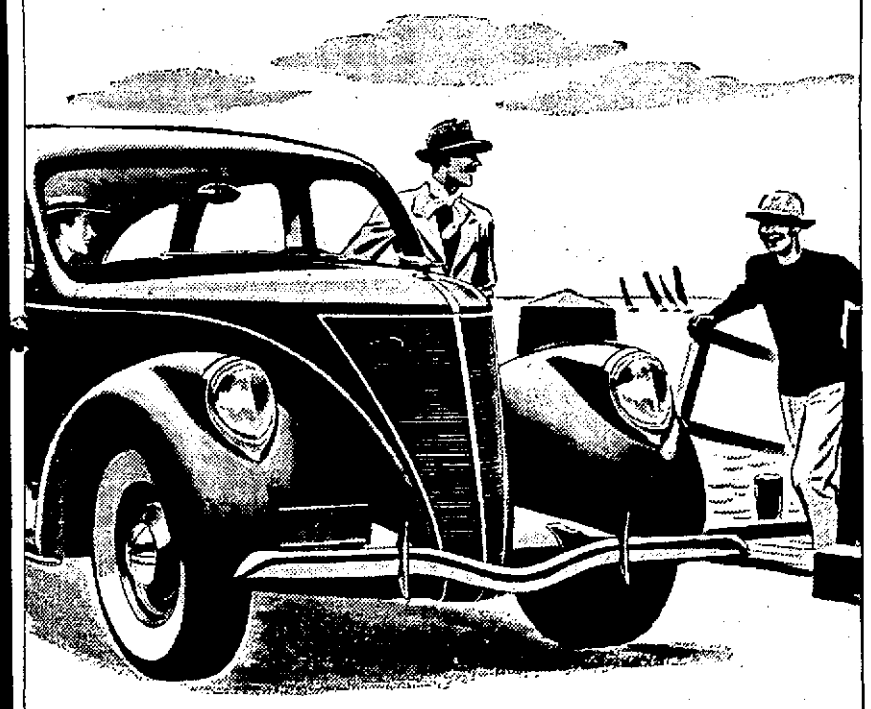
LINCOLN-ZEPHYR V-12



12-CYLINDER PERFORMANCE IN A CAR FULL OF NEW IDEAS

THE LINCOLN-ZEPHYR is a new kind of car: it offers a new luxury of travel. What features make it the outstanding value in the medium-price field?

The V-12 cylinder engine — which develops 110 horsepower. The next car with a V-12 engine costs more than $3000.

The new, unique body design — light in weight, great in strength. Passengers ride cradled in a steel framework to which is welded steel paneling.

A new conception of comfort. This car brings a new joy to motoring. Road shocks are not transmitted to passengers. Soft transverse springs take up disagreeable jolts and jounces.

The sponsorship of Lincoln. The LINCOLN-ZEPHYR is designed by Lincoln and built by Lincoln in the Lincoln precision plant. Only the resources, experience, skill of the Ford and Lincoln organizations make its price possible.

Demand for Vocational Pupils Grows As Industrial Plants Increase Activity

One of the certain indications that work in Marion's industrial plants is on the upward trend is to be found this spring in the vocational department of Harding High school, from which 37 boys will be graduated Friday night.

For the last five years, until this spring, cooperative work with the industrial plants has been virtually at a standstill, according to L. H. Ricker, head of the department and coordinator, but this spring there is a demand for the young men trained in his department.

Until 1921 industrial plants always had apprentices, young men who were learning the work in each department, but in the ensuing slump this type of worker was not hired and the result is that now, with business increasing, skilled labor is in demand everywhere in the country, according to the coordinator who has been at the high school since 1922.

The young men who graduate from the vocational department are both machinists and draftsmen and, according to Mr. Rieker, this type of all-round workman is scarce nowadays.

Virtually every young man who has left the high school vocational department in the last five years, has been placed this spring, and indications are that a large percentage of the most skilled pupils in the class of '36 will have jobs waiting for them when they receive their diplomas.

The young man who leaves the department, which educators of high school vocational training department, which educators of city schools hold in the same high regard that the vocational agriculture department is esteemed in rural communities, knows how to design and draw—he has had four years of shop drawing—he can trace, make blue prints, execute the pattern, do the molding and execute the machine to the finished article. For three years he has spent three hours a day, five days a week, in actual shop training.

One father who has been a machinist in a Marion industry for 18 years, was skeptical of the training his son was receiving, but an actual demonstration at the high school convinced him so strongly that he refused a challenge to pit his ability against the ability of one of the high school boys.

Recently a plant foreman asked Mr. Rieker for a pattern maker. The young man was so adept, and showed such possibilities of becoming even more skillful, that the foreman was anxious to hire another vocational department youth.

Other Subjects Studied

The vocational department pupil in addition to his shop work, studies English, history and mathematics, and if he can find the time in his schedule, he may study a language. His mathematics includes geometry and even trigometry, applied to shop work where it will bring him the most actual good.

In the last 15 years of the 350 pupils who have entered the department, 207 have been graduated and 104 have entered industrial plants.

Compiling statistics recently, Mr. Rieker discovered that those who have not gone into industrial plants have entered various lines of work. Among them are the ministry, the grocery business, farming, horticulture, ice cream making, service station operating, electrical work, engineering, trucking, clerking, restaurant business, battery station service, garage work, the jewelry business, coast guard service, car washing and meter reading. A few have entered college, one is an airplane mechanic, one has done postgraduate work, one is a WPA worker, two have enrolled in CCC camps, and one works at a soda fountain.

DO WOMEN SUFFER MORE THAN MEN?

Physicians tell us the nervous system of woman is more sensitive than that of man. And her nerves are more susceptible to the influences that produce "nerve tension" (strain) which is only another name for "pain."

That is why women especially benefit from Capudine, a pleasant-tasting, quick-acting liquid compound which relieves high nervous tension and pain by soothing the nerves. For nervous headache, neuralgic, and periodic pains Capudine is ideal. If Capudine does not relieve, you may be sure there is some organic condition which should receive the attention of your oculist, dentist or family physician. Get a bottle today, and if you do not prefer it to anything else, the manufacturers will cheerfully refund the price. 60c, 30c, 10c sizes.—Adv.

WHEN LIFE HANGS BY A THREAD-

WORLD FAMOUS DRIVERS KNOW ONLY ONE TIRE IS Safe!

Firestone

GUM-DIPPED TIRES WIN INDIANAPOLIS 500 MILE RACE

Last Saturday Louis Meyer broke the track record, at 109 miles per hour, driving the entire race without tire trouble of any kind. He is the only driver ever to win the race three times, and has always used Firestone Tires.

No tires except Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires could have resisted the terrific heat generated at such high sustained speeds on the hot brick track, lap after lap, hour after hour. You can have no greater proof of blowout protection.

Not one of the thirty-three drivers would risk his life on any other tire, for each driver knows that heat is the chief cause of tire failure and blowouts. Firestone cords are soaked in liquid rubber, which saturates and coats every cotton fiber, preventing friction and heat and adding great strength. This is the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, that gives you greatest blowout protection and safety.

Profit by the experience of race drivers. Equip your car today with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires—it costs so little to protect lives worth so much.

FIRE FROM REMOTE CONTACT EXPLAINED

Expert Says Air Can Become So Hot from Blaze It Will Ignite Another Building.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 4—The temperature of the air may be raised so high by a burning building that another building, 100 feet away, can burst into flames without sparks touching it, the All-Ohio Safety congress was told last night.

W. J. Gilsdorf, Columbus insurance man, said this condition was largely responsible for the destruction of East Nashville, Tenn., by fire in 1916.

Combustible material in a building in the path of a hot blast, he explained, can rise to a temperature where it absorbs oxygen, and spontaneous combustion occurs.

The average fire department, Gilsdorf said, is unable to cope with fires at this, what he called the conflagration stage.

Buildings will ignite sometimes, he added, when their temperature is raised to 1,000 degrees. The temperature of a burning building, he said, is 1,800 to 2,000 degrees.

Gilsdorf warned of the fire hazards in oily rags and fine dust.

Mental dust, Gilsdorf said, can explode with terrific force.

Claude Bawden of Mansfield estimated America's annual fire waste at one billion dollars.

NEW RELIEF MEASURE AIMS AT CHISELERS

Ohio Clients Would Have To Accept Job Offers or Lose Aid Funds.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 4—Ohio relief clients would be required to accept employment offers—or be stricken permanently from poor relief aid rolls—under tentative terms of a new relief bill.

A house finance subcommittee, named to draft a new relief bill, approved such a step yesterday following complaints of rural members that farmers could not obtain labor because many potential workers were on relief.

The committee recommended dismissal from relief any persons refusing private jobs, but favored reinstatement of those who accept temporary work.

In another move to clarify the state's relief situation, the subcommittee directed Lucas county commissioners to hold an immediate special election to vote on $5,000 worth of relief bonds.

Similar bond issues have been defeated twice in Lucas county.

Committeemen notified the commissioners by letter that they could not draft a bill to care for Lucas county's needs unless such bonds were voted.

NEW STATION TO OPEN HERE

50 Per Cent of First Day's Receipts Will Be Given to Scout Camp.

A new Pure Oil Co. super service station at North Main and Main streets will hold its formal opening Saturday.

The station, which was completed several days ago, is of the English cottage type architecture conforming with the company's new stations. The brick building is covered with a blue tile roof. It is on the northwest corner of the intersection and a space with a frontage of 96 feet and depth of 70 feet. The old frame station that formerly occupied the site was moved away.

W. E. Moorehead, district manager for the Pure Oil Co., has announced that on Saturday the company will donate 50 per cent of its gross profit at the station to Boy Scout Camp John A. Owens.

Frank P. Beck of Marion is manager of the new station and is assisted by two attendants. Mr. Beck has been with the company several years. Service will include the sale of gasoline, oil and all fuel and lubrication products, battery charging, car washing, grease rack and all services usually provided by the super service type of station. John Baldauf & Sons is the contracting firm that put up the new structure.

The Pure Oil Co. now operates nine stations in Marion county, eight in the city and one at Waldo.

POSITIONS OPEN IN CIVIL SERVICE

The United States civil service commission, through the local representative, A. G. Uncapher, secretary, has announced open competitive examinations for positions as an assistant petroleum engineer, at a salary of $2,600, teacher in community school, primary, intermediate, special or opportunity, in the Indian Field service, at a salary of $1,620 a year, statistical analysts, bureau of statistics and bureau of motor carriers, salary $3,200, assistant superintendent of brush factory, salary $3,200 a year, and foreman of brush factory, salary $2,600 a year. Information regarding the examinations may be obtained from Mr. Uncapher at the Marion postoffice.

DISCUSS GUARDIANSHIP OF SON

Cecil Klewelyn Bartholomew and his wife, Lillian, are shown conferring in a Los Angeles court after suggestions had been made to them that they settle the question of the guardianship of their son, 12-year-old Freddy Bartholomew, film actor, amicably out of court. The mother and Miss Myllicent Bartholomew, sister of the father, both seek the boy's custody, and Bartholomew, recently arrived from England, is said to favor the aunt's claim. Three Sets of Twins in Harding Graduating Class

Three sets of twins, and two pupils only a few months over 15 years of age are among the 1936 graduates of Harding High school who will receive diplomas Friday night, record cards in the office of Principal K. H. Marshall show.

Not in many years, if ever, have there been three pairs of twins in a graduating class, although there have been younger pupils graduate.

All of the twins will be graduated in the general course, and the two youngest pupils will be graduated in the commercial and general courses.

The twins are Patricia and Elizabeth Stoll, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Stoll of 265 South State street, born July 15, 1918; Charlina and Charles Turner, children of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Turner of 983 Henry street, born March 5, 1916, Dale and Gale Butcher, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Butcher of 333 Elaine avenue, born Jan. 25, 1918.

The youngest of the two "youngest" pupils is Marguerite Barkley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Barkley of three miles north of Marion on the Upper Sandusky road. She was born Feb. 20, 1920. She will graduate in the general course.

The next youngest, is Katherine Elizabeth Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Clark of 400 Nye street, who was born on Jan. 20 1920. She will be graduated in the commercial course.

FARM BUREAU MEETS IN WYANDOT COUNTY

Members of the Wyandot County Farm Bureau met last Friday night at the Upper Sandusky High school. Using the theme, "Who's Boss," members of the southeast section of the county presented the program under the direction of Mrs. Ira G. Pool, Charles F. Riedel, president of the county bureau, presided during the business meeting. He presented data concerning rural electrification in Wyandot county. A report on legislation was given by Glenn M. Smythe.

A piano solo by Minor Cover, was followed by a dialogue, "Taking the Census," by Mrs. Eliza Neiderhauser and son, Robert. A vocal trio, Miss Irene Maskey, Miss Naomi Dotts, Miss Leona Shaffstall, presented a selection accompanied by Mrs. Homer Kuenzil. C. R. Crum, county farm agent, spoke on 4-H club work and a play was given by Dice Comstock, Mrs. Ira G. Pool, Mrs. Gordon Lahr, Miss Clara Kuenzil, Mrs. Joseph McAlpin, Steve Swihart, Mrs. Charles Bardon and Bryant Windom.

Recreation was directed by James C. Cross. A committee composed of Mrs. Myron V. Case, Mrs. E. E. Bachtell, Mrs. Robert Althouse, Mrs. C. L. Heller, Mrs. Glenn M. Smythe, Miss Leona Ritterspach and Mrs. Ralph Swihart was in charge of serving refreshments.

UNCLE SAM'S DEBT NEARS 34 BILLIONS

Payment of Bonus To Send Obligations Figure Up from $31,635,000,000.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4—Carefully gauging the amount to be paid on the bonus this month, treasury experts yesterday estimated the fiscal year would close June 30 with the public debt a few millions short of $34,000,000,000.

They figured that of 3,500,000 veterans eligible for the bonds, some 2,500,000 would receive their checks and bonds during the last two weeks of June, involving an outlay of $1,700,000,000. This also would be reflected in the deficit.

They declined to hazard any opinions as to what the latter figure might be. However, at the close of business June 1, it stood at $2,969,000,000, adding the $1,700,000,000 to that figure produced the sum of $3,600,000,000. This would be increased by the amount that June expenditures exceed June revenues.

The public debt on June 1 stood at $31,635,000,000 and in reaching the $34,000,000,000 figure for the end of the fiscal year treasury officials added to it, in addition to the bonus cost, $1,000,000,000 to be borrowed in new cash June 15 and $250,000,000 to be borrowed by the weekly sale of treasury bills. The whole would add up to $34,586,000,000. From this must be deducted an expected $800,000,000 in bonus bonds cashed, leaving a net figure of $33,986,000,000.

As the bonds go out to the veterans, accompanied by checks for odd amounts, the transaction is to be charged upon the treasury books in two ways—as a cash expenditure and as an increase in the public debt.

The later conversion of the bonds into cash will be treated as an operation for the retirement of that much of the public debt, thus canceling one of the two entries made when the bonds are sent out to the veterans. It is expected that some $500,000,000 o $600,000,000 will be so treated this month.

GIRLS IN CALEDONIA FORM 4-H CLUB

Cherly Miles Elected President of Organization.

Special to The Star

CALEDONIA, June 4—Fifteen girls met at the home of Mrs. Martha Burson Monday afternoon and organized a 4-H club. Mrs. Burson was chosen club leader and the following officers were elected: Cherly Miles, president; Catherine Robertson, vice president; Helen Annabelle Pommert, secretary and treasurer; Helen Coulter, reporter; Dorothy Timson, recreation leader.

R. F. Piefer assistant county 4-H club leader was present and outlined the club work for the summer. The project is making clothing. The name chosen for the club is Excelsa. Mrs. R. F. Piefer of Marion assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

* * *

Mrs. J. L. Dice and Miss Florence Resler entertained the Adelphae Karitos class of Memorial M. E. Sunday school for its last meeting of the season Monday night at the Dice home. Nineteen members responded to roll call with The Word of God, taken from the Marion Star. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. R. F. Highly who read thirteen verses of the 15th chapter of Romans. Plans were made to have an ice cream social on the square in the near future. Committee on arrangements is Mrs. Orral Garber, Mrs. J. L. Dice, Mrs. Frank Ehlers, Mrs. Reed Simpson, Mrs. H. N. Geddis, Miss Florence Resler and Mrs. R. F. Highly. It was voted that each member pay 25 cents at the first meeting of the season to replenish the treasury. The Bible lesson "The Goal of Human Living" was given by Mrs. Orral Garber. Mrs. Lena Burley, Mrs. Clara Messerly and Miss Laura Garber were appointed to furnish program for three months. Mrs. R. F. Highly will entertain the class Aug. 31 when members will answer roll call with their favorite canning recipe. During the social hour refreshments were served and Mrs. H. N. Geddis contributed a poem "What is Life?" and had charge of a contest.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

EDISON, June 4—Mrs. Ella Moore entertained with five tables of euchre on Friday night in honor of her husband's birthday. High honors were won by John Germain and Mrs. Ella Beall, Frank Kelly and Donald Patterson were consoled.

About 20 per cent more electricity was used in the Federated Malay States last year than in 1934 and the use of telephones is increasing steadily.

MARYSVILLE WOMAN DIES

MARYSVILLE, June 4—Funeral services are to be conducted Friday at 3 p. m. at the First Presbyterian church for Mrs. Mina Brubaker of Marysville who died at Grant hospital, Columbus, Wednesday following a major operation. Burial will be in the Milford Center cemetery.

From your own experience you know that concrete is the safest road. Its even surface makes driving easier, reduces nervous strain and results in better car control. Its gritty texture improves traction and braking, resists skidding, wet or dry. Because of its flat "crown" drivers don't tend to ride the center of the road—passing is safer.

Concrete makes night driving safer. Its light-grey surface reflects more light, helps you see better. Illuminates obstacles and pedestrians. Sharply defines the edges and helps you stay on the road.

Highway officials are striving to reduce traffic accidents. Urge them to pave with concrete and secure for your community the safest as well as most economical pavement money can buy. You can benefit by your active interest as many others have done.

Obligations of a Dark Horse.

Iowa primary results giving Sen. Lester J. Dickinson a 2 to 1 margin over the once redoubtable Smith W. Brookhart get attention for two reasons.

Sen. Dickinson is a farm bloc senator seeking reelection as a thorough anti-new dealer. Former Sen. Brookhart, also a farm bloc politician, was running as a progressive, which meant that he represented a viewpoint close to that of the new deal. Iowa, apparently, has not been sold on the new religion of the More Abundant Life.

Sen. Dickinson is also a dark horse candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. In that capacity he is spokesman for an important section of the country in Republican councils. His success in the Iowa primary enables him to go to the convention in Cleveland next week with his political fences in good order. A dark horse unable to come through his own state's primary with an impressive lead would be too dark to get attention. Sen. Dickinson has met his obligations, both as a member of the opposition in congress and as a man who has been mentioned as a presidential possibility.

No Longer Funny.

It will take a few days for the country to get over the idea that Rep. Zioncheck of Seattle, Wash., is a funny man. For many weeks he has been the pepper in the news.

Washington, according to reports, has been as interested in his antics as in the tax bill, the political situation and other important matters. The representative's adventures have kept the capital in stitches.

There is, however, a vital difference between a man who does relatively harmless things in a spirit of mischief and one who consistently engages in peculiar antics which, apparently, are beyond his control.

As this is written, Rep. Zioncheck is resting in the psychopathic ward of a Washington hospital. Physicians explain his condition is not serious, but for some unknown reason give their assertion the lie by saying he is "suffering from overwork."

The public can be most unkind to those who, like Rep. Zioncheck, give it an opportunity to laugh at them, instead of with them. The unkindest thing that could happen now would be continuation of the attitude that irresponsibility in a man who seemingly cannot be responsible is a laughing matter.

Repercussion.

Loose ends of the Lindbergh kidnaping and murder case continue to whip destructively through the careers of men in the public eye.

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf has been deposed by Gov. Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey as state police superintendent. For Gov. Hoffman, who has appointed his personal friend, Col. Mark O. Kimberling, there is satisfaction in settling a personal animosity which flared up in the serious charge that the Lindbergh case had been bungled. Friction between the two men dates back to a state political issue of the previous decade.

For Col. Schwarzkopf, who had chosen police work as a profession, there is an opportunity to be philosophical, if he can, about the lot of a policeman in a world too full of politicians.

Bills That Will Perish.

This is the period of congressional sessions when zealots of all shapes and complexions begin to view with alarm the probability that their pet bills are going to be trampled under foot in the adjournment rush. Every year the same thing happens, and each time it is supposed to be sad.

It is this year a little less sad than usual. Possibly some good bills are going to be put on the shelf for lack of time and inclination to do anything about them in 1936. It's more than likely, though, that they never will be missed by anyone.

When congress finally slowed down to adjournment after the momentous 100 days in 1933, there was a general conviction that the country needed a chance to digest the legislative dumpling which had been rammed down its throat. It still is waiting.

Part of its gastric encumbrance has been removed forcibly by the supreme court's stomach pump. The rest is still there. In 1934 and in 1935, the situation was aggravated by additions to the half digested lump. In 1936, congress did slow down, but not enough to make possible the rest which the country needs.

There is no reason to doubt that representatives and senators could remain in Washington the year 'round and grind out legislation by the basketful. Bills seem to pop out of their minds like campaign cards out of a politician's pocket.

But if there is anything the country doesn't need more than it doesn't need anything else, it is more legislation. Conceivably, it might miss a good idea, but even a really good proposal could be held over for another session without hindering the onward march of civilization during the remaining months of 1936.

The Coalition Rub.

Coalition talk is growing louder and more insistent on the eve of the Republican convention. Certain influential G. O. P. leaders and newspapers propose it as the most effective way to combat the new deal wing of the Democratic party.

The theory is plain. There are many disaffected Democrats who think the Roosevelt administration has betrayed their party. If their sympathy and votes could be captured by an overt gesture of friendship, the Republican cause would gain numerical strength.

The idea has merit. The issue in 1936 is not between Republicans and Democrats. It is between the Roosevelt administration and the administration's opposition. Included in the opposition are many Democrats. Likewise, many nominal Republicans are sympathetic with the administration.

Thus, it would be natural enough for voters with similar beliefs to group themselves on the same side of the issue, without regard to party lines. Doubtless, a great many of them will do that very thing, just as thousands of discontented citizens did in 1932 when Franklin D. Roosevelt drew voters away from Herbert Hoover.

There is, nevertheless, a rub in the coalition idea. Who is the well known Jeffersonian Democrat willing to further the plan by accepting nomination as Republican candidate for vice president? What important political figure now classified as a Democrat is going to shuck off his party label to further the cause of coalition?

The Republican party has everything to gain and nothing to lose by being open minded and open armed toward rebellious Democrats. The latter, however, have relatively little to gain and everything to lose, in a political sense, by deserting their party.

It will be easier to get enthusiastic about coalition when a Democratic coalitionist can be found—one important enough to be a major factor in the election.

Hard Names.

There has been no denial of the charge that the house committee investigating the Townsend movement is trying to wreck the OARP organization. In the light of the latest testimony brought out by the investigators, the charge does not seem worth denying.

OARP officers themselves seem willing to do the wrecking job which members of the committee undertook in the first instance. There is an obvious and openly admitted split in the Townsend organization. Dr. Townsend, the founder, is on one side and some of the movement's most aggressive organizers are on the other.

They have reached the name calling stage in their difference of opinion. What Townsendites think of the situation cannot be determined, but probably they are divided in their loyalty. It is difficult to understand how Dr. Townsend can be ousted from the organization and even more difficult to believe he will be able to retain control of it.

The rise of the Townsend plan movement has been an exciting chapter in the contemporary history of pressure minorities in the United States. The movement's decline and fall promise to be equally exciting if its disagreeing leaders feel impelled to engage in a death struggle for the balance of power. Apparently, that is their present intention.

Policy Matters.

Two policy matters stood out in the senate's final action on the relief and deficiency bill.

First, in preparation for the presidential campaign, Democratic and Republican senators committed themselves to a clear division of opinion on the issue of returning responsibility for relief to the states.

Sen. Vandenberg's effort to take relief administration out of the federal government's hands was rebuked strongly by Democratic senators. It seems inevitable that the question will be carried over into the campaign.

Second, the administration party, in a flagrant exhibition of log rolling, defeated a Republican move to force reconsideration of a vote on an amendment authorizing a new survey of the Florida ship canal.

This means that the Democratic party, in defiance of national doubt of the feasibility of President Roosevelt's questionable pet project in Florida, has committed itself to a policy of spending public money even where the purpose has been challenged sharply.

Thus, the majority has laid itself open to the charge of going wilfully ahead with a project that is admittedly dubious and obviously expensive at a time when it is pledged nominally to a rule of caution.

The Florida canal and the Quoddy power project in Maine originally were relatively minor questions incidental to the national relief program. They have become, thanks to President Roosevelt's insistence on having his way and his party's willingness to oblige him, major examples of an administrative attitude which will be under increasingly close scrutiny as the campaign progresses.

Talk of Coalition Gains Strength

Editorial Comment Adds Force to Argument for Fusion of G. O. P. and Anti-New Deal Democrats.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, June 4 — Coalition—a basic idea in political warfare, sometimes called "fusion"—has come to the fore again, as it has on several occasions in the last 12 months, as prospects are discussed of a combination of independent or Jeffersonian Democrats with the Republicans in a united effort to defeat the new deal party.

The fact that the New York Herald Tribune, a traditionally Republican paper renewed the suggestion of coalition by an editorial on its first page, recommending that a Democrat be chosen for vice president, caused much comment among the members of congress who are preparing to go to Cleveland for the Republican national convention next week.

Two interpretations were placed upon the move. The new dealers, of course, insisted that it showed the Republican party was changing to include all opponents of the new deal, irrespective of previous party affiliation, and that Republicans alone were not sufficiently numerous to wage the campaign successfully this year. The Republican leaders, on the other hand, insisted that it was in accord with moves that have been made in various campaigns to attract voters of the opposite party.

Thus, in nearly every campaign, there are bolters who form a league and keep their campaign efforts separate and distinct from the regular party organizations.

* * *

In this year in particular, the effort to develop a coalition movement has had its origin in a knowledge that there are many independent Democrats who differ fundamentally on the new deal and who believe that it is really a deviation from historic Democratic doctrine. They construe the new deal, therefore, to be non-Democratic, and were there ways by which the name Democratic could be put on a ballot and a contest as to its use put before an impartial court, there would be plenty of argument to the effect that a party which deserted its 1932 platform so extensively had taken the initiative in the bolting.

But whatever the merits of the controversy may be from the standpoint of a Democrat, the problem is one of concrete strategy for the Republican leadership. Will it try to corral the Democratic vote that refuses to go along with the new deal?

The nomination of a Democrat for the vice presidency is, of course, a conspicuous way by which the Republicans can emphasize their willingness to form a fusion, but there are other considerations which no doubt will come up during the campaign, as, for instance, the pledge to appoint a coalition cabinet.

Among the factors working against the naming of a Democrat for vice president is the eagerness of various Republican aspirants for that nomination to get the second place on the ticket for themselves. This motivates many delegates who are entrusted with vice presidential booms.

* * *

The decision in the final analysis will be made by Gov. Landon or Senator Vandenberg, either one of whom seems likely to be nominated at Cleveland next week. Whatever the spokesman for the successful candidate decides next week will be adhered to by the convention.

There is, on the other hand, one thing that many Republicans may overlook in the interim. It is that, if the coming convention at Cleveland does not back the coalition idea, there probably will be an independent Democratic ticket in the field, just as there was in 1896. Many Democrats will never vote the Republican ticket nor will they stay home from the polls. State elections and issues draw them naturally to vote. There are many Democrats who are on the verge of rejecting the new deal ticket but who are not yet ready to vote the Republican ticket. Of these, many will dislike to do it, but they will vote for Mr. Roosevelt again rather than vote for a Republican. It is to this class of Democrats that the coalition strategy is directed, for undoubtedly there are some Democrats who will vote the Republican ticket irrespective of whether either or both the presidential and vice presidential nominations are given to Republicans.

The real question, therefore, is whether the Republican leadership is going to run a regular Republican partisan convention this year or take cognizance of the unusual situation that exists when so many Democrats differ fundamentally with the wing of the party that calls itself the new deal. While coalition has many staunch adherents among the regulars, it has about a fifty-fifty chance of succeeding at Cleveland. Nevertheless, the movement is gathering momentum and may develop into one of the dramatic incidents of the convention as the question is raised there in some form, possibly by the adoption of the 1932 Democratic platform.

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight.

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 4—President Roosevelt would not chide a Republican for the world. It was not he who made public his letter urging congress to start with Senator Vandenberg's beet sugar followers in cutting down large farm benefit payments. It was those two Democratic partisans, Senator O'Mahoney and Representative Jones, to whom the letter was addressed. They gave it out.

A President, of course, never indulges in political byplay, especially where legislation is involved. He probably did not even read the papers closely enough to know that Senator Vandenberg was being sounded out by the Landon forces for their vice presidential nomination or that Mr. Vandenberg has been the leading campaigner for a reduction of benefit payments to large corporate farmers.

Congressmen sometimes consider such things, however. Also, occasionally they forget.

Perhaps this is the reason why the White House privately sent an unwritten postscript to Messrs. O'Mahoney and Jones telling them that Mr. Roosevelt would not care how much publicity his letter received. To make doubly sure, it seems that the White House also tipped newsmen that the letter could be obtained from the two addressees, although the White House itself would never, never give out such things.

Mood

The only importance of the sly move to pull Senator Vandenberg's leg is the extent to which it reflects the inner campaign mood and adroitness of the top new dealer. It brought echoes of laughter in White House and congressional corridors and some of the following private comments:

That Mr. Roosevelt could hardly have chosen a more effective way to make known his passive opposition to large farm benefit payments.

That the President has lately appeared to be in a playful and highly confident spirit.

That this is the sort of thing which the Republican innocents are going to be up against in the coming campaign.

Pep Poll

Republicans are heartening themselves with some straw polls, the results of which are being circulated privately within their organizations. The latest is supposed to have been conducted by "an independent and non-partisan" source about two weeks ago. About 75,000 straw ballots are said to have been sent to voters throughout the country.

Up to May 18, the result from 13,539 returned ballots was tabulated as follows: Republicans 51.02 per cent, Democrats 46.42 per cent. The difference was taken up by the Socialist and other parties.

A second poll made among farmers only (said to be based on 22,088 personal calls) showed the following results in 20 states; Roosevelt 42.1 per cent, other Democrats 3.7 per cent; Republicans 46.7 per cent, Townsend 6.4 per cent, Socialists 1.1 per cent.

Few lawyers will consider such evidence convincing in view of the prejudice of the witness, but the Republicans believe it, and it has pepped them up considerably.

Traders

The Soviets are rapidly gaining a reputation inside the world of diplomacy as the hardest traders in the business. American diplomats who tried to negotiate settlement of the czarist debts are now laughing at the British.

London had the mistaken notion that Moscow would be overjoyed to make a naval agreement with the British Empire. Instead, the Soviets went to London prepared for horse trading. They wanted a defensive alliance for protection against Hitler. In order to get it they are hemming and hawing with the British over their naval needs. They will not enter any agreement with London unless granted the right to parity with Japan. They also want equality with Germany.

British surprise could not be greater if the Reds had asked for the crown jewels.

Zioncheck

The accepted explanation of Zioncheck is that he has been bundling himself up against the world with Zioncheck zippers for six months and more. Not even a congressman can stand that. The Seattle congressman would probably have gone on indefinitely, however, if he had permitted the White House to remain outside the scope of his performance. It was the White House which furnished the inside courage for his apprehension. This courage was handed directly via telephone to a local district commissioner and then on to the local police.

New York Notes

O. O. McIntyre's Diary of Fact, Fancy and Folks.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The yearly income of the bridge expert Ely Culbertson is conservatively estimated at $500,000 net. He has a million dollar estate in Connecticut, an elaborate suite at a Fifth avenue hotel and dines the most expensively of any gourmet in the metropolis.

All this is the result of the circusey climb of a once destitute emigre from Russia. John Kobler, in an informative magazine article, calls him America's shrewdest disciple of the Ballyhoo—The Barnum of Bridge. He has been able to seize the headlines as no other exponent of his time.

He is one of the most ingratiating personalities of the day. I recall meeting him myself at the home of Charles M. Schwab. A suavely dapper type with just a nip of foreign accent, he has that engaging frankness for which so many strive and so few achieve. He looked on life as an antic. So one thought.

Yet to visit his high-powered and expensive offices atop Rockefeller Plaza shows what his commercial imagination has done in extracting a fortune from an ordinary deck of playing cards. Even his wife salvages $85,000 a year with syndicated articles and lectures.

Louis Bromfield, the author, continues his wanderings in India. The other day I was privileged to read extracts from a letter he wrote to the editor of a monthly magazine. He said among other things: "...I have been to Penang, Singapore, Macassar, Bali (a great disappointment), Samarang, Batavia, Sumatra (lovely) and now we are in Mysore for the shooting. Day before yesterday I got a huge tiger—a beauty. I am writing from the Maharajah's camp in the midst of the most beautiful jungle where we live in luxury with the best possible food. The animals come all about in the evening and you go to sleep listening to panthers coughing and whining just outside the compound..."

Percy Crosby's recent exhibit of paintings in New York again reveals the artistic versatility of the "Skippy" creator. The collection contained canvasses of scenes that caught his eye in all parts of America—the mountains, the deserts, and the seashore. One of them, "Rat Hunter," went to the British Museum by request, after the show. Crosby, also, has been in complete isolation for five months, having seen only members of his household, while turning out a book. He has authored several.

Then there is E. C. Segar, the creator of the Popeye cartoon, who is to be honored by a large canning community in Texas. The originators of the movement believe that Segar, because of his exploitation of Popeye's favorite dish, has made the growing and canning of spinach one of the profitable enterprises in the Southwest.

And Popeye has more people who can impersonate him than any other cartoon character. The fog horn voice with the tooting interjections might seem to limit the field of such mimicry. But there is scarcely a day over the radio they are not heard and almost always play a part in amateur programs. Next to Mickey Mouse, the by-products of the Popeye vogue—games, dolls, souvenirs, etc.—are larger than any of the comic page creations. This popularity is, of course, for the moment.

No Rival Show Expected

Roosevelt Not Likely to Compete for Stage Next Week.

BY BYRON PRICE

(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington, D. C.)

The prediction that President Roosevelt would compete with the Republican national convention for publicity, and seek to blanket it, seems likely to qualify as the season's worst political guess.

There were at least two good reasons, all the time, for being certain he would attempt no political bombshelling in the speeches he was booked to make in the south and west during Cleveland convention week.

One was that that hardly would be the time, when the Republican picture was changing from day to day, to take up major campaign issues. It would be too much like shooting at a rapidly-moving target.

The other reason was that it would take something like a superhuman effort to dislodge any national convention of a great party from page one. The reading public likes its conventions too much.

No one versed either in politics or publicity was surprised when it developed that Mr. Roosevelt proposed to confine his speeches to more or less philosophic discussions of past historic events, and leave the event at Cleveland for future reference.

Lehman Action Uncertain

Much manifestly futile speculation likewise is being expended on the question whether the President, or anyone else, will insist that Governor Lehman of New York reverse his decision and run for reelection.

If the draft is exercised on Mr. Lehman, it will not be done for some time. It would be the worst politics in the world for the governor to say one week he wouldn't run, and then say the next he would.

Washington has been hearing a lot about another Democratic governor, but in a different way.

In Indiana, a state executive is ineligible for reelection. Insistent word has come out of that state however, that Governor McNutt is to be kept in the national picture, one way or another.

Some time back McNutt partisans were pointing out what a fine candidate for vice president he would make. Nothing came of that, and then the talk turned to his qualifications for a place in the cabinet.

The latest and best prediction is that Senator Minton will be elevated to the federal bench after the election, and McNutt appointed senator to succeed him.

Clark Gives a Hint

Democratic headquarters strategists have been presented with a campaign hint in the keynote speech of Senator Clark before the Missouri state convention.

Instead of lambasting the Republicans, Senator Clark largely ignored them. He praised Mr. Roosevelt, and then turned loose on John J. Raskob, the Du Pont and the Liberty League as the real enemy.

Whether or not they adopt similar tactics in the national campaign, party headquarters men are vastly interested in the suggestion.

Fletcher Smiles

Henry P. Fletcher is preparing to take leave of duty he doubtless will rejoice to see on other shoulders.

Two years ago he was chosen chairman of the Republican national committee. He didn't know a great deal about politics. The party was badly divided, and it was essential that much reorganization work be done without treading on anyone's toes or being partial to any faction or candidate.

The position had no future, everyone expected the new appointee to pick his own chairman. All Fletcher had to do was raise a lot of money, get a brokmachine under way, and dodge showers of brickbats.

There is no more thankless job than this, but Fletcher has come through it smiling.

Peek's New Attack

A major Republican campaign may grow out of George N. Peek's new attack on the administration's reciprocal trade treaty program made just as Secretary of State Hull announced the signing of a new pact with France.

Peek formerly was foreign trade adviser to President Roosevelt and head of the export-import banks set up in connection with the treaty program, and for a time was stroke oar in AAA conflict on several sides, before he split himself and his ideas out of the administration last winter.

He thinks the trade negotiations are being badly operated—and are a false theory. He now is airing his dislike of the Hull policy in a series of magazine articles.

What he expects out of the campaign personally he does not disclose. It is a logical surmise he might be receptive to a Republican cabinet post as secretary of agriculture—in event the Republicans win in November. He supported the Democratic party in 1928 and 1932 but says his partisanship "rests lightly" upon him.

Ohio Oddities

BY R. C. HALL

Ohio has produced some of the world's leading stage folk. And the chief theatrical manager of the past half century was Charles Frohman, who was born at Sandusky in 1860, and perished in the sinking of the Lusitania. In his youth, Mr. Frohman worked in a newspaper office and sold tickets at a theater. At 18, he was a advance agent for a leading minstrel show. In 1881 he bought the rights outside Boston, to the play "Shenandoah" and from that time on success was assured. In 1896 he organized the Charles Frohman Stock company and, about 1900, the theatrical trust. He became the proprietor and manager of a number of theaters in New York and London.

PORTSMOUTH FIRM ISSUES ULTIMATUM

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., June 4 — Representatives of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers considered today an ultimatum from executives of the strike-closed Wheeling Steel Corp. plant that the company would not operate a closed shop or sign a contract with the union but that it welcomed a conference at which plant department councils could meet with the union. Some 5,500 employes have been idle for 13 days as a result of the strike.

According to the dialogue which accompanies the film Harding was "the only President of the United States to speak on Canadian soil while in office. The monument was erected on the spot where Harding stood as he addressed an audience in Vancouver while on his western trip in 1923 that ended with his death in San Francisco.

FORMER RESIDENTS IN MARION ON VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Patten of Gladewater, Tex., former residents of Marion, are visiting at the home of their son, Glen Patten at 914 North Prospect street. Mr. and Mrs. Patten are traveling in a home trailer. They will go to Detroit Sunday, where they will visit another son, Ben C. Patten.

Mrs. Patten, who suffered a fractured right hip several months ago, had been in a hospital at Gladewater prior to starting for Ohio. They will not return to Texas for several months.

Mr. Patten retired as mailing clerk at the Marion postoffice, Aug. 1, 1934, where he had been employed for 30 years. Mr. and Mrs. Patten formerly lived on Harding highway E.

LOCUSTS ARRIVE IN DELAWARE CO.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., June 4 — The appearance of "17-year-locusts" has been made its appearance in Delaware county. Whether they will appear in greater or smaller numbers than in 1919 is difficult to determine, according to Professor A. C. Cooper and Professor E. L. Rice of the zoology department at Ohio Wesleyan university.

The professors explained that "seventeen-year-locusts" are not really locusts, but cicadas septendecim. The term "locust" should be properly applied to the long-horned grasshopper of the true family Locustidae, according to the entomologists.

ROOSEVELT GIVEN 2 FLOOD MEASURES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4 — Only President Roosevelt's signature was awaited today to enact two bills authorizing the expenditure of more than a half million dollars for flood control.

Completing action yesterday, congress sped to the White House the $310,000,000 omnibus flood control measure and the $272,000,000 Overton act authorizing control works on the lower Mississippi valley.

By a vote of 235 to 52, the house agreed to approve a senate-house conference agreement on the scholarship and the Stone Trust award. The hall award was given him for most closely approximating the ideals of Nermal Hall, a Yale grid star who lost his life in rescuing a drowning girl.

AWARD WINNER

Above is a photograph of Walter A. Marting taken when he was a member of the Yale football team in the 1932-33 season before an injury forced his retirement from the game. He has continued his grid career at the university by coaching freshman football and serving as a varsity scout.

The university's secretary, in announcing the award made today, said that Marting, "as an undergraduate not only was a student of high rank, but one of the leaders of his class in other respects as well. He was a member of the student advisory committee, Cloister and the Torch Society. Mr. Marting won his major Y in football in 1932-33. His excellent record in the law school subsequently led to his selection as a Garland scholar."

Service in Sports

After winning his letter in football in the 1932-33 season, Mr. Marting suffered an injury that prevented further participation in the game, but he has continued his football service to the university by serving as freshman backfield football coach and a scout for the varsity.

Mr. Marting, following the conclusion of his studies for the current term, will spend most of the summer as head counselor at Camp Monadnock, a boys' camp at Jaffrey, N. H. He will spend two weeks visiting his parents following the close of the camp season before returning to Yale to complete his law studies.

Before starting studies at Yale, Mr. Marting attended Phillips Exeter academy at Exeter, N. H., for three years and prior to that attended an academy in Kentucky.

His brother, Dr. Frank Marting, who is now on the staff of a New Haven, Conn., hospital, likewise was a football star at Yale and was freshman line coach while he attended the college of medicine there.

Their parents came to Marion in 1930 after living a short time at Upper Sandusky where Mrs. Marting's father, Charles A. Colmery, lives.

The seven other students who shared in the Garland awards announced today are Amory Howe Bradford of Providence, R. I., Levin Lyttleton Waters of Baltimore, Md., Max Otto Urbahn of Milwaukee, Wis., Philip Miller of New Haven, Conn., John Rumacy Barrows, Jr., of San Diego, Calif., William Pendleton House of Pittsburgh and Raoul Weston LaBarre of Uniontown, Pa.

The university today also announced award of William Lathrop Kingsley memorial scholarships to James Buckley Satterthwaite of New York City, Elbert Bacon Hamlin, Jr., and David Robert Kerr, both of Springfield, Mass. These awards were made to students holding promise in the general subject of literature.

TRAP SHOOTERS AT STATE MEET

Marion Men Will Take Part in Toledo Event

Six Marion trap shooters today planned to attend at least several sessions of the four-day golden anniversary tournament of the Ohio State Trapshooting association which opened in Toledo this morning. Those who planned to participate are J. H. Hinklin of 140 West Walnut street, Dr. R. D. Miller of 248 South Grand avenue, Edward H. Huggins of 549 Delaware avenue, Homer Hirth of Pearl street, Frank Hall of West Center street and Gains L. Rush of 267 North Prospect street.

Mark Aric of Champaign, Ill., grand American champion, and Joe Heistand of Hillsboro, O., former grand American champion, were present for the opening preliminary events today, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Toledo.

COUPLE MARRIED BY CITY JUDGE

Alfred Carnes, teacher, of Memphis, Tenn., and Miss Walterine Marshall of Marion, colored, were married by Municipal Judge William R. Martin, yesterday afternoon.

Fate Saved Local Man Who Fought With Gen. Custer

The only man in General Custer's 7th U. S. Cavalry who was not killed in the famous Indian battle, "Custer's Last Stand," was a Marion man who, by a queer quirk of fortune or luck, or plain circumstance, was home on furlough when the battle took place.

Judge Oscar Bowen, one of the illustrious men of Marion county's early history, had two sons, T. C. Bowen who was an Annapolis graduate and fought in the battle of Mobile Bay, and Bert who served in the 7th U. S. Cavalry under General Custer in the west in 1876.

Writers for the Marion county section of the American Guide, the federal writers project, part of the WPA program, handbook which will be published by the federal government, in poring over Marion county lore, learned of the unusual incident which made the son Bert the only man who was not killed when Sitting Bull and his Indians wiped out Custer and his brave men.

Judge Bowen was stricken seriously ill and a message was sent by pony express to Bert, urging his instant return to Marion. With great haste his furlough was arranged and the Indian fighter came home.

History has it that it was at the moment he entered his father's home which stood on the corner of what is now East Washington and Delaware avenues, that Sitting Bull and his braves made the fatal attack on Custer, killing the entire cavalry force.

CHILD PLAYS COOK, IS BADLY BURNED

Delaware Girl Tries To Appease Brother's Pancake Appetite.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., June 4—A little brother's appetite for pancakes and his 6-year-old sister's efforts to appease his hunger brought serious burns to the little girl yesterday morning at their home north of Delaware.

In the absence of her mother, Mrs. Clarence Poole, who was working in an upstairs room, little Dorothy Poole attempted to prepare and serve the pancakes, a rather Herculean task for a 6-year-old. It is not known whether her clothing caught fire from a gasoline stove in the kitchen or whether her dress became ignited from a match. Her screams brought her mother, Mrs. Clarence Poole, from an upstairs room where she was working.

The child was taken to the Jane M. Case hospital for treatment. The hospital reported she is expected to recover from the burns.

TWO N. Y. SALESMEN FINED IN COURT

Charged With Selling at Retail Without License.

Louis Fruchtzweis, 21, and Tcchok Gerszgorn, 22, both of New York City were each fined $25 and costs when they pleaded guilty in municipal court yesterday to a charge of selling at retail without a vendor's license. The charge, filed yesterday by police, alleged that they sold tangible personal property at retail without having a license.

Fruchtzweis was taken into custody following a minor traffic accident Tuesday about 10:30 a. m. and Gerszgorn was held when he called at the police station several hours later in search of his companion. Questioning revealed that they had sold office supplies without a vendor's license, police said. Both were committed to the county jail yesterday afternoon pending payment of the fines.

ILLEGAL FISHING BRINGS 17 ARRESTS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 4 — Game wardens were on the lookout today for persons possessing or selling undersized fish from Lake Erie following the arrest of 17 persons and seizure of six tons of illegal catches by state conservation officers. Conservation Commissioner Lawrence Wooddell said the fish confiscated in Ashtabula county and arrests were made in that county and in Lake county.

96-Year-Old Vet Becomes Father for Second Time

By The Associated Press

NEW BERN, N. C., June 4— George Isaac Hughes, the 96-year-old Confederate veteran who amazed the medical world when he became a father 15 months ago, was all smiles again today and, if he had any, he'd be passing cigars about.

By the light of a crude, old-fashioned kerosene lamp in a small room of their little home near here, another child—a girl this time—was born last night to his 25-year-old wife, Libby Hill Hughes, whom Hughes married two and a half years ago.

"It looks like we might raise a pretty big family after all," Hughes commented. "You know I've been saying all along I'd live to be 110 years old—that's how long my grandmother, Katie Tillman, lived, and I don't look so old yet, do I?"

Hughes is vigorous for his age. He was the only veteran to attend recent Confederate memorial exercises in the county. His faculties are clear and he does odd jobs, chopping wood and keeping a garden.

The Hughes' only income is a small Confederate pension.

MRS. FRAKER DIES AT HOME TODAY

Mrs. Margaret Fraker, wife of J. Adam Fraker, died at 11:15 a. m. today at the home at 870 Henry street. She had been ill for some time. Arrangements for the funeral were to be made this afternoon.

CHURCHES ARRANGE SUMMER PROGRAM

A group of Marion ministers met this morning at the Y. M. C. A. and outlined the calendar of summer union services. The schedule will be announced Saturday.

Churches participating in the 1936 union meetings will be St. Paul's English Lutheran, Prospect Street M. E., Epworth M. E., First United Brethren, First Reformed, Salem Evangelical and Reformed, Central Christian, Trinity Baptist and the First Presbyterian.

Rev. Franklin G. Markley of Epworth M. E. church presided as chairman of the meeting and Rev. E. A. Lehman of St. Paul's English Lutheran served as secretary.

BLUM BECOMES NEW PREMIER OF FRANCE

ment brought up a new, serious phase to the internal situation.

The metal industries' employers declared to Albert Sarraut, retiring premier, that the strikes are "revolutionary" and threaten to paralyze all French industry within a short time.

Liberty Violated

They reported "new violations of personal liberty," presumably by strikers holding company officials as prisoners.

The strikes spread to other branches of industry affecting newspapers.

Afternoon newspapers were kept off the streets by pickets. Only about 10 morning papers, or less than half the total number, appeared on news stands.

Laborers building air raid shelters at police headquarters quit and tried to stay in the shelters, but police routed them summarily.

A flight of capital into British pounds was reported by bankers. Sterling hit one of the highest quotations in many months.

The franc also slumped at London, carrying the American dollar down with it.

Gold Flowing Out

French banking circles reported a steady flow of gold to Britain, with additional quantities of the precious metal marked by the Bank of France for British banks.

Further spread of the strike movement into the war industries sent 10,000 workers into "folded arms" idleness at a Dunkirk ordnance plant. Additional miners occupied workings in the Anzin coal region, largest in the nation.

Despite fears that public service and transportation services might be paralyzed, these continued normal for the time being.

L'Humanite, the Communist newspaper, estimated there were 200,000 on strike in the Paris area and 200,000 more elsewhere in France.

As the soft-spoken Blum made ready to diagnose the nation's labor and financial ills, the right wing of the chamber of deputies united on a policy of outright obstruction to his leftist government.

This policy was decided upon after the dominant people's front had refused the rightist pleas for representation among chamber officials.

Residents of the capital watched the political maneuvering amid fear of shortage of food, water, and gas. Strikes in virtually all groups affecting centers caused operators of taxicab companies to limit the number of vehicles operating.

Labor leaders promised however, the strike would not deprive "children, old people and the sick" of necessities of life.

The Croix De Feu (fiery cross) Fascist group of Lieut. Col. Francois De La Rocque made a new bid for support by urging the workers to form new unions "free from political connections" under its auspices.

DONAHEY OFFERS NO SENATE BILLS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4 — Sen. Rush D. Holt, Democrat of West Virginia, claimed for himself and Sen. Vic Donahey, Democrat of Ohio, today the distinction of being the only members of the senate not to introduce a single bill at the present session of congress.

"We have too many laws now," Holt observed in stating that 17,691 bills had been offered by senators and congressmen at this session.

BANKHEAD SPEAKER AFTER BYRNS DIES

Byrns, Mr. Whaley, Dr. Jones and Rep. McReynolds, Democrat of Tennessee.

An attack of influenza several years ago, said Dr. George W. Cale, had left Byrns with "a bad heart."

Sen. Robinson of Arkansas, the majority leader, said:

Shocked by News

"No death comes as a great surprise and shock to his friends, and particularly to associates in congress. He worked during the session has been very difficult and trying. He was a great speaker. He had the respect, confidence and admiration of the members of both bodies. He was my personal friend and I exceedingly regret his passing."

Rep. Snell of New York, minority leader of the house, declared:

"I am shocked beyond all imagination. It is a terrible thing. It is an almost irreparable loss."

It was seldom that under the guidance of Speaker Byrns the legislative desires of the White House were not followed, at least in main outline by the house.

Became Speaker in 1935

Byrns, as speaker of the national house of representatives came to Byrns when the 74th congress convened Jan. 3, 1935. Back of him was a full quarter century as a member of the house from the "Hermitage district" of Tennessee, a tenure which saw him go through a dozen successful political campaigns and which brought him chairmanship of the house appropriations committee, leadership of the Democratic majority and head of the Democratic congressional campaign committee.

"Uncle Joe" to his constituents, he was a shrewd politician, a masterful parliamentary strategist and a fair-minded chairman and presiding officer whose personal qualities won praise from political opponents.

He was a lawyer by profession, an avid reader of history, biography and detective stories and a fisherman whenever a lull up in his work allowed him to indulge in that pastime. He liked to travel by airplane.

Marked by Barber's Joke

Close to 6 feet, 2 inches tall, he was rangy and soft-voiced. Rugged features were accentuated by heavy, shaggy eyebrows that lent themselves to caricature. The eyebrows were the result of a practical joke played on Byrns in his youth when he went to sleep in a barber's chair after asking for "a clean shave." The razor wielder carried out the request to the letter. The eyebrows grew out bushy and, as Byrns' son said in later years, "marked him for life."

Byrns' service on the pivotal appropriations committee began early in his congressional career, which started in March, 1908. By the time that the election of Woodrow Wilson brought his party control of the national government, Byrns was near the top of the Democratic membership of the committee and in the World war he was chairman of the sub-committee which guided the huge war appropriations through the house.

Banking in Minority

When the Republicans regained power, Byrns was ranking minority member of the committee, and through the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover administrations worked as hard to turn off the lap as he did to turn it on for Wilson. Democratic ascendancy returned in 1931 and Byrns became chairman, resuming the position when he was chosen party floor leader in 1933. He stepped from the latter post to the speakership following the death of Henry T. Rainey of Illinois.

Byrns was made chairman of the national Democratic congressional campaign in 1928 and it was a matter of pride to him that it was under his leadership that his party regained control of the house.

He was born on a farm near Cedar Hill, in Robertson county, on Tennessee's northern border, July 20, 1869. He was the eldest of six children and through much of his boyhood attended a rural school. But later his parents took their brood to Nashville so the children could have better schooling.

Education Earned in Fields

After being graduated from high school, Byrns entered Vanderbilt university, earning his tuition by working in the tobacco fields of Robertson county during vacations. He took an academic course for two years, then switched to the law school and was graduated with the degree of LL.B. in 1890. After one more summer of farm work he hung up his shingle in Nashville.

Politics opened a natural pathway to the acquaintanceship needed by a young lawyer and Byrns four years after he began practice, was elected to the state legislature. He served three successive terms in the house from 1898 to 1900, being speaker in his third term, then went to the state senate for one term. A campaign for district attorney general of Davidson county in 1902 ended in defeat, the only time he was beaten at the polls.

Byrns was a presidential elector in 1904 as in 1908 became a candidate for congress. He had to defeat a redoubtable campaigner, John Wesley Gaines, to win the nomination, but turned the trick, carried the November election and took his seat in the national house, March 4, 1909.

Senior Prom Is Gay Party As Pupils Dance At Crystal

THE annual Harding High school junior senior prom drew more than 200 young people and several hundred parents and friends to Crystal Lake park last night for the school's social event of the year The parents and friends lined the entrance to the pavilion to see the young people arrive

Under the soft glow of the light reflected from the three large modernistic designed lights the young people and faculty members danced from 9 until midnight to music played by Paul Wheeler's orchestra

The grand march at 9 45 o'clock was led by George Conro senior class president and Jane Stephenson and John Wilhelm Harding junior class president and Marjory Lewis

White formal and semi formal frocks led the style parade presented by the girls with pastels a close second

Dance Frocks Varied

Satin crepe organdie mousseline de soie taffeta and a wide variety of new cotton materials were used in fashioning the dance frocks For the most part the young women chose youthful bouffant styles with puffed sleeves basques and full skirts but here and there were backless gowns

One girl chose a pale yellow organdie made peasant style with wide bands of pale pink and blue material decorating the ruffled sleeves and at the waist a sash of narrow black velvet ribbon

The redingote mode was a decided favorite in many of the frocks seen up front and worn over satin either plain or figured Several girls chose the popular circle trend for their prom costumes and there were several who wore short taffeta jackets in a solid color over frocks of printed materia

One lovely semi formal dress was of white chiffon with full sleeves and a high neckline another of white chiffon was lovely in simple Grecian lines One of the dancers chose a gold threaded black taffeta for her gown

Several of the young women chose to wear flowers in their hair some had wrist corsages and others wore a simple shoulder bouquet but on the whole those who did not wear flowers were a majority over those who appeared with corsages

The young men were in all white suits or blue flannels and white coats or the white flannels and dark coat

Dicky and Madge Hope to Reach Brixton Before He Leaves Garage With Car

In response to Miss Marshall's call the boy Jerry ran into the room in something of the manner of a Jack in the box His eyes were bright and inquiring his manner breathless and I knew that he shared the secretary's concern for their absent employer

Ask Mr Graham to come in here at once please she said and Jerry spun on his heel and shot back again

When Dicky came into the room I introduced him quickly and then handed him the letter I had just read

Miss Marshall wishes you to read this I said Then we must decide what to do

He took the letter dropped into a chair and read it hurriedly while I mentally commented upon the difference in phraseology and style the letter presented to Samuel Brixton's usual rough clumsiness It was as if something had stripped him of all pretence leaving only dignity and tragedy

Ready for Action

Dicky sprang to his feet as he read the closing words and thrust the paper back into Miss Marshall's hands

We'd better get going he said to me unless he turned back to the secretary You have something more to tell us

No only to ask if I may where you are going? Not to his home I hope I am sure Mr Brixton would go wish Mr Brixton alarmed until the last possible moment

Nor would we Dicky assured her No we will go to New Haven Don't you think so? He turned to me

Oh yes I rejoined He speaks of getting in touch with Donald today If we are not there first

Then a new idea flashed to me How does Mr Brixton usually commute from his summer home? I asked By train or his own motor?

Both she answered laconically Do you know how he came down yesterday?

No but I can find out She picked up a telephone and gave a number

The garage where he keeps his car will know whether he left it there last night she said

Keep them on the line I said breathlessly as she made the inquiry Then he turned to us

Yes he brought his car in yesterday morning and it is still there

Learn of Plan

Ask him please I directed if Mr Brixton gave him any instructions as to the time he wished to take it out this morning

My eyes were fixed upon Miss Marshall's face as she listened to the man at the other end of the wire

Thank you Goodby she said and looked at her wrist watch as she hung up the receiver

He said Mr Brixton told him to have the car ready at eleven thirty she said I imagine he must have worked here until almost morning The cleaning women were talking about the waste baskets being crammed full of torn paper

It's eleven thirty now Dicky said Where is this garage?

She gave him the address and he made a mental calculation

We'll be two or three minutes late I'm afraid he said but we'll make to do the best we can

He put his hand beneath my elbow to rush me to the door but I held back turning toward Miss Marshall

Couldn't you call the garage I asked and tell them to say something's wrong with the car that it's almost impossible for Brixton to delay them until we get there If necessary say you're speaking for Mrs Brixton who has friends who wish to do a good turn with him but that she wants to surprise him and that they must not appear to know anything about us when we arrive

SYNOPSIS: Dirk Joris has found Hope, wife of his older brother Rupert, in a Chelsea boarding house, she had run away; Dirk, pretending he knows her, asks that she return to the Joris estate on the Hudson river because Rupert, recovering from a terrible illness, is asking for her. In spite of suspicions and mysterious things in Hope's background, Dirk knows he never will be happy out of her sight and she has promised that, although she will not stay at the Joris place long, she will tell him before she leaves.

* * *

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

Sudden Tragedy

HOPE and Dirk went together to the gray stone house in Twenty-second street. At its door she hesitated, then asked, "Could you let me have some money?"

He took $30 from his bill-fold, offered to write a check if she needed more.

"No," she said, and thanked him. "That will do."

She took the money and went back, asking him to wait on the step. After about twenty minutes she came out.

"I'm ready," she said.

She was taking nothing back with her but the guitar.

* * *

Snow. Snow falling infinitely, steadily, without hurry.

Dirk stood at his bedroom-window in his dressing-gown, and watched the snow. He had tried to read, but made no headway. Rupert had been home a week. He was recovering certainly enough he still looked shaken and pale. He had gone this morning, thoroughly bundled in rugs, for a ride with Hope. Martin driving them. The nurses had been discharged.

What Rupert's sudden turning to his wife might signify, Dirk could only conjecture. Whether it was as he had suggested to Hope, the mere vagary of a sick man, or whether the new mood involved a definite change of heart, Dirk saw too little of either Hope or Rupert to determine. Husband and wife had their meals together upstairs, and on those occasions when Dirk had visited Rupert in his rooms, Hope had withdrawn.

Dirk knew of course that Hope was only marking time, only waiting till Rupert was well again, when she would leave. But he would know this time when she went. She had promised to tell him and she would keep her word. He, too, would keep his word. He would not stop her, or try to stop her. He would merely go with her. Nothing could prevent him.

He started, thinking he heard a cry. A woman's cry. And now, almost instantly, a shot—a slammer—a shot, like backfire from an engine. Yet it had been too close for backfire, and from the wrong direction.

He was in the hall. He listened. There was no sound anywhere... It should not be so still behind Hope's door. He tried that door. It was locked. He tried Rupert's door. It opened. The light was on, but the room was empty.

Hope's light burned too. The door stood open. Dirk was in Hope's room before he knew.

Hope stood in her nightgown, leaning against the column of the bed. Her eyes were dazed as if she were walking in her sleep. Rupert lay face down at her feet.

The pearl-handled revolver was on the floor between them.

Dirk rose from kneeling beside his brother, and confronted Hope. Close to him now, her dazed eyes stared back, seeming not to see him. Suddenly she crumpled, was in his arms. He lifted her, carried her toward the door.

Timothy, pale, half-dressed, hurried before him, turning back for directions.

"The south bedroom." Dirk said.

Distinctly he remembered that the south bedroom had been made ready for the Rev. Devine. Somehow, Mary, too, was in the room turning down the bed. Dirk laid Hope within it. Her eyes were half-shut, her lips parted. She seemed not to breathe.

Timothy had gone out. Dirk met him coming from the tower-room. Timothy's voice was almost inaudible.

"Shall I call . . ."

"Call Dr. Rann across the street," Dirk said. "That's the quickest."

Rann came at once. Rupert, he said, had died instantly.

Dirk telephoned to Connolly, Rupert's friend, and chief-of-police. Connolly, he knew, would bring the coroner. They must come, of course, but they would learn nothing from Hope tonight. Rann, who was with her now, had said at once that she must not be questioned.

* * *

Rupert lay just within the room, close to the old kas. A small dark stain was spreading on his back, dyeing the familiar brown dressing gown. The bullet had gone through. The pistol lying there had sent its bullet clear through.

Something like a wound went through Dirk's own breast. My God, and we were playing backgammon not an hour ago...

He took a handkerchief from the pocket of his dressing-gown, dropped it over the pistol. Then he picked the pistol up and broke it open. One shot was gone. The pistol had been fully reloaded, and one shot only had been fired.

Strange. Strange, that. He wiped the weapon carefully, and laid it down again. But he did not lay it where it had been—close to the spot where Hope had stood.

He laid it beside Rupert's hand. The pearl handle close to Rupert's hand.

"Forgive me, old man."

It wouldn't matter now. Nothing mattered now to that prone body in its monk-like robe. The very gesture of the out-flung arms showed that nothing mattered now.

"I was afraid of this," Connolly said when he arrived.

He and Bassett, the coroner, had at last come out of the tower-room. They talked with Dirk in the hall.

"I was afraid," Connolly repeated. "When he didn't come back from Big Mouse I got worried. Things he said once or twice, the way he acted. He made his will last month, I suppose you know."

Dirk said that he had not known, but since Rupert had just got married—

"I know. And he seemed more cheerful yesterday when I called. And his wife taking care of him so well. Even in his note he left no reason."

"You had a note?" Dirk asked.

"The note on his desk," Connolly said. "The note addressed to you."

He took the note from his pocket and handed it to Dirk.

"I supposed of course you'd found it. It was not even folded—just lying open on his desk."

Rupert lay at Hope's feet.

They were standing near Dirk's door. Dirk went into his room to read his brother's note.

Tomorrow, Dirk at last talks with Hope.

CYNIC'S UNABRIDGED

Jay-walker:—A husband who disregards the stop-signal in his wife's eyes while tripping gaily down the Primrose Path. A bachelor trying to zig-zag between two women.

Marriage:—The alchemy which transforms a man from a happy poker-player into a scrappy bridge-fiend.

Alimony:—The back payments on dead love. The penalty a man pays for having stopped loving a woman whom he never should have begun loving.

Progress:—The up-to-the-minute program of most young married couples who plan to have the automobile first—and the baby when they "can afford it."

Clinging-Vine:— A sentimental, old-fashioned term applied to the sort of woman who clings to a man for protection, for convenience—or just for spite. (See Grappling-hook.)

Paradox:—A "hard-shell", independent, modern girl, holding a cigaret in one hand and a tear-drenched handkerchief in the other —and sobbing like an 1830 heroine because some man failed to show up.

Fame:—The Old Dame who places a laurel wreath on your brow, hitches a plough to your shoulders and holds a Tantalus-cup to your lips. The adulation of a lot of people who would probably consider you quite ordinary if they knew you personally.

Inferiority Complex:—The conviction that neither one of them is good enough for the other, which attacks a newly-married couple after they have finished talking over the marriage with their families.

Sweet Delusion:—The average man's blissful assumption that traffic rules, ash-trays, women's hearts and wedding vows were just made to be broken.

Domestic Harmony:—The armed neutrality of that monotonous interval between scraps.

40-Year-Old Hat Is Traded in Here for A New One

A straw hat 40 years old, that has been in constant use every summer in its long career, is now the property of the store whose founder sold the hat.

It is a Buckeye hickory straw harvest hat purchased in 1896 by Nye Carpenter, well known resident of the vicinity of Cardington, from the late Jim Dugan when Mr. Dugan was operating a store in Ashley.

Recently one of the men in the Dugan store on North Main street heard of Mr. Carpenter and his hat, and finally persuaded the owner to part with it—with the gift of a fine new straw harvest hat as compensation.

The 40-year-old headpiece, in a remarkable state of preservation, is now one of the proud possessions of the Dugan store. Mr. Dugan entered the men's furnishings business in Ashley, later moving to Cardington and finally to Marion in 1918.

JOHN D. SHUNS JERSEY CROWD

Millionaire Already on His Estate When His Special from Florida Arrives.

By The Associated Press

LAKEWOOD, N. J., June 4—Detraining at a backwoods crossroad where the caretaker of his estate awaited him, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., arrived from Florida and began his summer stay at Golf House last night.

A large maroon car with the Rockefeller chauffeur, Vincent Frasca, and some 30 townsfolk were at the Lakewood station awaiting the arrival of the 96-year-old millionaire.

But when the train to which his special cars were attached drew to a halt at the station at 5:40 p. m., a Rockefeller secretary, Ward Madison, said it was "safe" to say Rockefeller was at that time already at his estate near here.

Madison later answered a telephone call to the estate and said Rockefeller had arrived. Asked if Rockefeller had stood the trip from Florida well, Madison said "oh yes."

Madison declined to discuss details of the journey, or to name persons who made the trip with Rockefeller.

"I am not supposed to say a thing," he said.

The caretaker, Fred Buswell, and his son, Fred Jr., were said to have been the only persons who met him at the crossing in the woods about two miles from Lakewood. Rockefeller was driven immediately to the estate, entering through the rear gate.

When the train stopped in Farmingdale, about 10 miles from Lakewood, the shades of Rockefeller's compartment in the special car, "Cleveland," were tightly drawn.

A half dozen members of the Rockefeller household left the train at the Lakewood station. One woman was carrying a bird cage. The baggage was placed aboard a truck and taken to the estate.

Rockefeller will observe his 97th birthday here on July 8.

Improvements made at Golf House for Rockefeller's residence there this summer include the addition of a large glass enclosed sun porch. Workmen stayed on the job all last night completing it. The house on the 300-acre estate, encircled by many pine trees and a high fence, has been repainted inside and outside.

Rockefeller usually remains there two months or more of the summer. He has been in Florida all winter.

PASSION PLAY TO BE SHOWN HERE

The Passion Play in motion pictures will be shown Tuesday night, June 23, at 8 at the Central Christian church. The pictures were made in the Holy Land, at the scenes where the incidents occurred, by the men and women of the Oberammergau Passion Play which is presented in Bavaria.

No admission charge will be made, expenses being met by a free-will offering.

FORMER MARION WOMAN INJURED

Mrs. Homer R. Whitney of Sandusky, a former resident of Marion, is in Good Samaritan hospital at Sandusky, suffering from a fractured left hip resulting from a fall at her home on Memorial day. Her condition is serious, according to word received by Mrs. Rose Helwig of Pearl street. Mr. Whitney, a railway mail clerk, and Mrs. Whitney moved from Marion to Sandusky about 10 years ago.

CLUB LEADER SPEAKS

The 1938 biennial convention of the Ohio Grand Order of the Protected Home Circle will be held in Marion, according to an Associated Press dispatch from East Liverpool where the closing sessions of the 1936 meeting were held yesterday.

Delegates selected Marion after electing Fred A. Riddle of Youngstown president.

Charles I. Smithson, delegate from Marion Circle No. 184, and D. D. Downing of Lima, district deputy, presented the invitation from Marion. Mr. Smithson is expected to return home today.

The convention will bring approximately 350 delegates and visitors to the city for a three-day meeting.

Other officers elected yesterday include J. S. Call of Steubenville, vice president; Robert Ashram of Alliance, guardian; Lillian Daugherty of Warren, chaplain; Bertha Timberman of Alliance, watchman.

TEN FROM INDIANA TO SUPPORT LANDON

Eight Others Express Favor for Kansan; At-Large Group Also Backs Midwesterner.

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 4—Indiana Republicans, their state ticket again headed by Raymond S. Springer of Connersville, as candidate for governor, centered their attention today on plans for the national convention at Cleveland, with at least 10 of the state's 28 delegates certain to support Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas for the presidential nomination.

Eight other delegates expressed favor for Landon, in addition to the 10 instructed to support the Kansan in the national convention.

Springer, nominee for governor four years ago, was selected to head the ticket for a second time in the second ballot in a contest with five other candidates.

Prior to the nomination of state candidates the convention instructed the four delegates at large to the national convention to support Landon.

Previously three districts had pledged their delegates to Landon. Each district in Indiana has two delegates to the national convention.

STARTING JUDGE NAMED FOR FAIR

L. L. Miller Appointed To Fill Race Position.

Announcement was made today that L. L. Miller of 292 East Center street has been named starting judge for the racing program at the 1936 Marion county fair.

Selection of Mr. Miller, who is manager of the Merchants Finance Co., was made by Henry S. Kramer, speed superintendent and member of the fair board. Mr. Miller has received his starter's license from the United Trotting association, Bellefontaine organization that supervises all harness racing in Ohio.

He has had wide experience in the racing game and as a starter. He came here some time ago from Toledo. Assisting him at the fair will be Jack Horner of Lima, one of the oldest starting judges in the state.

NORTH MAIN STREET HOME BURGLARIZED

Sack Containing $10 in Coins Stolen.

Burglars last night entered the home of James Blankenship of 788 North Main street and took a money sack containing approximately $10, according to a report to police. The burglary occurred between 7:30 and 9:30 p. m. while members of the family were away from home. Entrance was made through a first floor window at the front of the residence, police said, after they investigated and found that the screen had been removed.

The money, most of which was in dimes, nickels and pennies, was taken from a buffet drawer. Nothing else was reported missing.

WHITE BATTLES G.O.P. COMBINE

Claims Coalition Would Block Progressive Leadership That Party Needs.

By The Associated Press

EMPORIA, Kan., June 4—William Allen White, who is expected to be one of the key figures in the Republican convention, dismissed discussion of placing a Democrat on the party's presidential ticket with the comment, "mix on the coalition," as he left last night for Cleveland.

Mr. White, a delegate-at-large from Kansas and an intimate of Gov. Alf M. Landon, said in an interview:

"In order to catch Liberty League Democrats, who are obviously dissatisfied with Roosevelt, a coalition ticket would have to be tailed up with conservative, hard-shelled Democrats. To catch liberal-minded progressive Republicans in independents who are dissatisfied with the 'bad fist' President Roosevelt has made of the ideals, which all good Americans cherish, the head of a coalition ticket would have to be liberal, progressive Republican.

Sees Tall Burden

"A fat chance a ticket would have if it were headed by a progressive Republican like Landon or Vandenberg and flying tail-like with Gov. Davey of Ohio or ex-Gov. Ely or ex-Gov. Al Smith."

The Emporia editor, who is likely to sit on the platform-drafting committee at Cleveland, continued:

"To float such a ticket the platform would have to be a complete straddle and to paddle this platform through the election rapids, with two kinds of anti-Roosevelt ians on it—would take a cross-eyed, four-armed oarsman with eyes in the back of his neck. Coalition would be a catastrophe.

Wants Reform Party

"The Republican party is either going to be reborn as a new constructive party to function in the new era that war and depression have made or it is going to blow up from the inside and disappear.

"This election cannot be won without getting the votes of independent, forward-looking Republicans who voted for Roosevelt four years ago and were fooled. He has failed to reduce unemployment. He has made relief a partisan program.

"His independent supporters," concluded Mr. White, "have come to their senses. They want to vote the Republican ticket but they don't want to be caught dead voting for a hybrid or mongrel—a cross between Mercury winging ahead and Lot's wife looking back."

According to the American Institute of Sanitation, the common house fly carries as many as 1,000,000 bacteria. This figure was set after two scientists, employed by the institute, examined 100 flies obtained from various places.

DROUTH SOLVES COTTON ISSUE

Dry Spell Expected To Accomplish Results Sought by Crop Control.

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, Ga., June 4—Drouth was mustered today to help settle the cotton surplus problem the hard way.

Cotton mission house buyers said a record 30-day dry spell in the southeast might accomplish what cotton crop curtailment programs have failed to do—create normal export channels for approximately seven and one-half million bales held by the government.

That is the average annual production of the four states hardest hit by the drouth—Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas.

Farmers Want Rain

Weather-beaten farmers hoped, prayed that rains would come soon to restore life to their dusty fields.

Meteorologists agreed abundant moisture within the next few days would save much of the cotton and other crops of tobacco, corn, hay, grain and truck.

While the drouth went into its eighth week, southern congressmen launched a movement in Washington to obtain quick federal aid for stricken farmers.

The representatives, called together by Rep. Fullmer of South Carolina, decided to obtain specific information and present their plea to Secretary Wallace.

Crop Complete Failure

Meteorologist George W. Mindar of Atlanta said complete crop failure was indicated in some counties of central Georgia, without helpful rain since early April.

Crop damage was estimated at $30,000,000 in Tennessee by the University of Tennessee extension service.

W. A. Graham, North Carolina commissioner of agriculture, said there is "practically no hope for normal crops in North Carolina this year on account of the drouth."

The Alabama Polytechnic institute extension service said east Alabama faced major losses in all crops.

In Maryland, Somerset county farmers turned to irrigation to save crops.

Henry M. Taylor, state-federal statistician, said the truck areas along Virginia's eastern shore and tidewater were hit hardest.

MEMORIAL RITES HELD IN PROSPECT

Special to The Star

PROSPECT, June 4—A memorial program was held in the High school auditorium Saturday. Rev. James O. Dodd, pastor of the Central Christian church of Marion, delivered the address.

A pageant, "Silent Tribute," was followed by a piano solo, by Lucille Court and a duet by Charles Toms and Lorin McNeal. Paul B. Gast and his band furnished the music.

ALUMNI OF O. S. U. TO VISIT CAMPUS

Marion county graduates of Ohio State university are planning to return to Columbus for the commencement season events on the campus, according to Clarence W. Snyder of Merchant avenue, president of the Marion County Ohio State Alumni association. Starting Thursday, June 11, and continuing through commencement Monday, June 15, dozens of events are planned for the returning alumni.

Special honors will be accorded the 50-year class, graduates in 1886. Other classes having special reunions this year are those of 1892, 1893, 1894, 1895, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914 and 1931.

Rookies Lead Yanks, Cards to Victory; Tribe Lose

DI MAGGIO, MARTIN PACE MAKERS FOR MAJOR LOOP LEADERS

Indians Overcome by Red Sox, 6-2; Giants Shut Out Chicago Cubs.

By The Associated Press

The slugging prowess of Yankee Joe Di Maggio and Cardinal Stu Martin appears to have those two youngsters ticketed as the class of the 1936 rookie crop.

Their extra base belting has them batting in or around the coveted .400's, and has been doing a lot toward keeping the New York Yankees and the Gas House gang from St. Louis at the top of their respective league heaps.

Both have been breaking up ball games with their stickwork. Only yesterday, Di Maggio, who came up from the coast last spring as the most highly publicized rookies in the history of the business, clubbed out a triple with the bases loaded, and a single, also with men on the bags, to break the hearts of the aspiring Chicago White Sox and give the Yanks an easy 11-1 win.

At the same time, Martin, a product of Asheville, N. C., was hammering out a single and triple to pace the St. Louis Iarrupers to a 7-3 victory over Brooklyn.

Despite these triumphs, however, the two leading clubs were unable to increase their respective league leads, for the second place outfits also were winning their games—the Boston Red Sox downing the Cleveland Indians 6-2 with a five-run spiurge in the seventh, and Hal Schumacher limiting the Chicago Cubs to three hits while his New York Giant mates were making all their runs off Curt Davis in the first inning for a 3-0 win.

The Boston Bees, with Bob Reis doing an effective job of relief pitching as well as singling home the winning run in the 11th inning, nosed out the Pirates, 4-3; the Washington Senators found the going easy for a 7-4 conquest of the hapless St. Louis Browns, and the supposedly-weak Philadelphia Athletics surprised the world's champion Detroit Tigers 11-7, despite homers by Goose Goslin and Ervin Fox. The Phillies and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

MICHIGAN WINNER OF BIG TEN TITLE

Defeats Iowa in Closing Game of Conference Baseball Season.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 4—Michigan ruled the Western Conference baseball world today.

The Wolverines clinched the Big Ten title Wednesday in Ann Arbor by defeating Iowa, 8 to 6, in a loosely played game. The win gave Michigan a season record of nine wins and one loss, with Illinois second with 10 victories and two defeats. The Hawkeyes placed third with eight wins and two losses.

Minnesota, winner in 1935, finished with seven wins and four losses, ending the season yesterday by splitting a double bill with Wisconsin.

Japan last year increased its exports of chemical products 10 per cent over the 1934 figures.

National Open Golf Title Play Begins at Baltusrol

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, N. J., June 4—The biggest gamble in sports—the United States Open golf championship—started today over the staid and storied Baltusrol club course with the bookmakers, as usual in this show, sticking out their necks.

This was one of the widest-open Opens in 40 years with at least 20 players rated a good chance to win.

All told, there were 155 scheduled starters. The pace setting rates fell to a southwestern pair, Jack Munger, Dallas amateur, and Zell Eaton of Oklahoma City, a recent recruit to the pro ranks. Their starting time was 7:15 a. m. (EST).

The consensus on the final score ranged from a record-equalling 286—the mark set 20 years ago by Chick Evans Jr., and tied in 1932 by Gene Sarazen—to 289. The course, a 6,866 par 72 layout, will yield to good shot making and it's a cinch par will be cracked a-plenty before the windup Saturday afternoon.

Sam Parks, the Pittsburgh pro who staggered experienced club-swingers at Oakmont last year by coming through at 50 to 1, didn't teach the bookies much of a lesson because they're quoting him again at the same price.

It's been four years, at least, since a pre-tournament favorite came through. Sarazen had to shoot the last nine in 31 at Fresh Meadow in 1932 to turn the trick.

Although his winning streak has been stalled since his 1933 triumph at Augusta and he has done little in practice to warrant it, Sarazen was held even with Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., favorite, at 8 to 1.

Third choice at 12 to 1, Horton Smith of Chicago appeared to belong up there with Picard and Sarazen.

Johnny Revolta, the professional champion, at 15 to 1, Byron Nelson, the sandy-haired Texan, knocked down from 30 to 1 to 18 to 1, and Bobby Cruickshank and Jimmy Thomson, the siege-gun, at 20 to 1 each, were other prime favorites. Walter Hagen, who first won the title 22 years ago, was held at 30 to 1.

Lowly Catfish Rate Well With Many Anglers

BY LARRY BAUER

Old whiskers seldom breaks into the sporting pages although he provides thousands with recreation. There are places where the catfish is about the only large species available when the inhabitants get the urge to wet a line.

His name is whispered—if mentioned at all—in the presence of scientific anglers despite the fact that the first fish caught by many of them was a bullhead or a fiddler cat. Old whiskers was an early day companion of numerous sportsmen who have since scaled the piscatorial heights.

One member of the tribe—the channel cat—is classed as a game fish in some states. This fellow is built along more racy lines than his cousins and usually is found in clear streams with a good current. We recall a fight staged by a six-pounder.

The fish was taken with a fly rod on a small under-water artificial wiggler, while the angler was fishing swift riffles on the Big Piney river, once a noted bass stream. This particular channel lit out for deep water below the riffles and put on quite a show before being brought to net.

Later, we saw an agler take one of the common, or slate-colored variety of catfish while trolling a spinner-minnow rig for wall-eye pike. Although this fish weighed as much as the blue channel mentioned above, and struggled a bit, it certainly lacked the sporting qualities of the channel cat.

However, the great majority of catfish addicts pick a shady spot at their favorite hole, stick their poles in the bank, and laze away with an eye on the corks.

Just fishin' in the good old summertime!

Paint may be given that fashionable stained appearance by using two coats in different shades. The first should be barely stiffer when the second is put on; when that is in the same condition, take an old comb and make your own pattern.

COLUMBUS RED BIRDS SEEK DECISION ON ASSOCIATION RULE

Want Right To Use Player from Parent Club After May 15.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 4—The Columbus Red Birds awaited today decision of President William C. Bramham of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, on their challenge of an American association rule forbidding use of players received through parent clubs after May 15.

The Red Birds' president, Donald Beach, appealed to Judge Bramham last night by telegram after the association president, George (Red) Trautman, informed the local club that he could not certify pitcher Mike Ryba on the active list.

Ryba, with the Birds last year, was optioned from the St. Louis Cardinals, with whom the Columbus club is affiliated. Beach said Ryba would be with the team in time to pitch Friday, despite Trautman's ruling. He contended the no-aid rule was aimed directly at Columbus.

From his home in Durham, N. C., Judge Bramham declined to comment until he had studied the appeal.

MAP PLANS FOR NEW MARION TENNIS CLUB

Marlowe Witt of 306 Hano avenue and Ross Alkin of 1133 East Church street this morning announced they are making tentative plans to sponsor a proposed Vernon Heights Tennis club and will call an organization meeting soon if sufficient interest is shown by prospective members.

The three-court grounds of the former Marion Tennis club on Vernon Heights boulevard are available to the club, if interest justifies putting the courts in condition, Alkin said. One of the three courts already has been scraped and all three will be put in playing condition if a club can be formed, he said. They urged prospective members to get in touch with them within the next 10 days.

15 Leading Pros Accept Invitations to Inverness

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., June 4 — Ohio's headline golf attraction—the Inverness $4,500 invitational tournament scheduled June 25-28—rounded into form today as 15 of the nation's leading professionals accepted bids to participate.

The sixteenth berth in the best-ball two-man team classic will be filled by the National Open winner at Baltusrol, and if that winner is listed among the 15 already selected, then Craig Wood, the big blond New Jerseyite will get the call.

And there is a live possibility that the 15 certain starters may have the new open champion in their ranks, for a roll call of their names sounds like a "Who's Who."

Here they are:

Henry Picard, Johnny Revolta, Denny Shute, Vic Ghezzi, Ky Laffoon, Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour, Bobby Cruickshank, Horton Smith, Harry Cooper, Jimmy Thompson, Lawson Little, Jimmy Hines, Willie Klein and Ray Mangrum.

Players who took part in last year's event, but who will not be back this season, are Billy Burke, Al Espinosa, Leo Diegel, Al Watrous and Sam Parks.

The 16 players will be split into eight teams of two men each, and each team will meet all the others in best ball 18-hole matches. Points are awarded on a plus and minus basis, and the pair with the greatest number on the plus side at the finish of the round-robin takes $1,000 of prize money.

Picard and Revolta copped the lion's share of the wealth a year ago, and they will team up again in an attempt to repeat. Shute and Ghezzi, second in the 1935 inaugural, will pair up again. Other pairings are Laffoon and Hagen, Armour and Cruickshank, Smith and Cooper, Thomson and Little, Hines and Klein, and Mangrum and the new open champion, or Wood.

LAABS LEADER IN BATTING STANDINGS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 4—President George M. Trautman of the American association released figures which placed Chet Laabs, Milwaukee outfielder, out in front of sluggers so far this season with a .730 average. Next came two Columbus outfielders, Winsett with .700, Cullop with .673. Owen, Columbus catcher, is ninth with .556 although he is the league's leading hitter.

The tropical worsted suit is light in weight, but so are many other summer suits. Where the tropical is different is in the way the fabric is woven. Hold one up to the light and you'll see what we mean. The open weave lets the air through. It lets your body breathe!
The tropical is the preferred summer suits of well-dressed men because it LOOKS like one of your smarter heavier suits. It will hold its crease just as well, it's tailored as well, in every respect, except its weight and coolness, it could be another heavy suit! But once you wear a tropical you'll insist upon summer suits for summer wear!

The Marion Steam Shovel team registered the first victory in the All Star night league by edging the Axe Funeral home, 3-2, in a game under the lights at Lincoln park last night. Chilly weather kept all but a handful of fans from attending the contest, which marked the opening of the season for both teams. In twilight contests, only two of the No. 1 league games, postponed from May 25 were played yesterday. The Epworth No. 1 team placed the first game in the victory column by defeating the Epworth Seniors, 5 to 2, while the Lee Streeters continued their pennant march with an 8 to 5 victory over the Trinity Baptists. Two other twilight games were postponed.

After permitting the M. S. S. aggregation to tally three runs in the initial inning, the Axe Funerals attempted a futile comeback which netted them a run each in the third and sixth innings, but fell one marker short of tying the score. Snider, the winning hurler, struck out four batters, allowed one hit and issued six walks. His possibility of a no-hit game was lost when Blocksom singled in the third inning.

Millisor, Axe Funeral pitcher, fanned 16, allowed six hits and walked seven. After permitting the winning squad to score three runs in the initial inning on three hits and two walks, Millisor settled down to steady twirling and permitted only three scattered singles in the remaining innings. The M. S. S. catcher, Creasap, hit safely in all of his three times at the plate, connecting for a double on one occasion.

The Lee Streeters annexed the third consecutive win to remain in a first place tie with Forest Lawn for the No. 1 league load. Crabtree, Lee Street mound ace, held the Trinity Baptists to two hits, but five errors of his team mates aided the defeated team in scoring five runs. Trailing by a 2 to 3 score when they went to bat in the fifth frame, the Lee Streeters shoved over five tallies to clinch the game. The Baptists scored two runs in the final half of the fifth, but were unable to match their opponents' scoring ability. Lee Street added the final run in the sixth to win, 8 to 5.

The scrappy Epworth Senior outfit, held back this season because they have been unable to put a full team on the field, fell to a new low by losing their fourth straight game. The Epworth No. 1 team handed the Seniors a 5 to 2 defeat.

Twilight games tonight will find members of the Commercial league in action. The undefeated Huber and M. S. S. teams will be battling to keep their records clean. Huber meets the Lawrence Farm Markets at Garfield and the M. S. S. team is matched with the Excavator squad at Lincoln park. Other games will bring together the Keystown Campers and Prospect at President field and the Marion Merchants and Fairfield at the M. S. S. field. The scores by innings follow:

Epworth Seniors	000	200	0	—	2	4	2
Epworth No. 1	003	200	*	—	5	8	1

Axe Funeral	001	001	0	—	2	1	6
M. S. S.	300	000	*	—	3	6	1

Millisor and Noble, R. Bloxom; Snider and Creasap.

The Sportsman

BY LARRY BAUER

THE plight of marsh and shore birds has been more or less overlooked in the campaign to save the larger waterfowl. The former have declined in numbers along with the wild duck and goose and some species, notably curlews, are very rare now. At least one species is extinct.

Included in this group are some of the finest game birds—snipe, plover and woodcock. Others eagerly sought by gunners are rails, yellow-legs and gallinules. All of these are protected under the migratory bird treaty act and open seasons are regulated by the federal government.

However, several species need more than protection of the law if they are to survive. The once great flocks of golden plover have dwindled and the upland plover (bartramian sandpiper) is mighty scarce. Sportsmen's organizations ask that hunters refrain from killing species that are rare, and use moderation in the taking of all others.

AT Mandan, N. D., District Judge H. L. Berry has his own system of dealing with those who kill elk illegally.

Gottlieb Herber, Jr., of Stanton, N. D., village marshal and special deputy game warden, was brought before Judge Berry charged with killing two elk.

The judge fined Herber $115 and then ordered him to post an additional $100 with the clerk to help defray expense of bringing another pair of elk into the state. On top of that Judge Berry imposed a 90-day suspended jail sentence.

Mississippi state game officials predict that recently enacted legislation limiting hunters to the three-shell shotgun load will be a decided conservation measure.

The department, in announcing passage of the bill, said: "That the three-shot limit on shotguns is the greatest quail conservation measure that may be taken at this time, we are certain. It will greatly reduce the loss of birds through wasteful crippling."

RED BIRDS WIN FROM LOUISVILLE; MILLERS DEFEAT MILWAUKEE

Minneapolis Stands Out as Principal Bidder for Association Title.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 4.—If the Minneapolis Millers don't hammer their way to another American association title it's a certainty their power at the plate will prove a tough obstacle for the club that does win the circuit championship.

The Millers whipped Milwaukee 11 to 6 yesterday on a 14-hit attack which included home runs by Fabian Gaffke, Bob Holland and Roy Pfleger.

The Columbus Red Birds handed Louisville's Colonels their third straight setback, 6 to 2. The Birds collected only one more hit than Louisville, but got them at more opportune moments.

St. Paul beat Kansas City, 2 to 0, in a night game in which each team collected but five hits. Kansas City committed three errors while the Saints played perfect ball in the field.

In another night tilt, Toledo whipped Indianapolis 7 to 3. The Hens were outhit 11 to 8, but played errorless ball while Indianapolis had two miscues.

Aces Win, Lose

DALLAS—Hole-in-one item: In the Texas women's golf tournament, Mrs. Cliff Moore of Houston, a first flight player, aced the 131-yard tenth — and went on to win her match. In the West Texas Women's tourney, Mrs. Sam O'Neall of Midland holed her tee shot on the 133-yard fourth — and was so upset she lost her match, 4 and 3.

MRS. BAILEY'S SENSITIVE SKIN

Rash Broke Out But Cuticura Soothed

Read this letter—how smarting rash and blisters due to external causes were relieved in almost no time by Cuticura.

"I noticed an itching sensation on my face and arms. It afterwards formed blisters that left the skin very tender and sensitive. Finally a rash broke out which, when rubbed, caused a smarting and intense itching. It was agony.

"A sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment relieved me so much that I bought some. After using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one-half tin of Cuticura Ointment, the rash disappeared." (Signed) Mrs. Grace Bailey, 390 East 201st St., Bronx, New York City.

Cuticura also soothes the irritation of pimples, ringworm, burning and itching of eczema with wonderful speed and effectiveness. Buy today. Ointment 25c. Soap 25c. Samples FREE. Write to "Cuticura", Dept. 18, Malden Mass.—Adv.

PEARL ST. SCHOOL PUBLISHES BOOK

The annual edition of "Happy Thoughts," the Pearl Street school publication of original work done by pupils, is being distributed this week.

The booklet, bound in heavy yellow paper with a linoleum block cut in brown decorating the cover, contains 16 mimeographed pages of poems written by boys and girls of each grade.

Members of the faculty believe that through the teaching of poetry "we are attempting to arouse within the child an appreciation of its beauty, and a desire of using poetry as a pleasing form of expression."

SPAIN MAY OUTLAW ALL SYNDICALISTS

By The Associated Press

MADRID, June 4—The Spanish government threatened to outlaw syndicalists today as three persons were killed and nine others injured in labor disorders.

Simultaneous strikes, involving approximately 250,000 workers, continued to tie up various industries.

"If the syndicalists persist in disobeying orders from the ministries of labor and the interior," said Augusto Barcia, minister of state, "the government plans to outlaw them."

FLUSH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 Miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 Miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste, poisonous matter may develop, causing serious trouble. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 Miles of kidney tubes. WYANDOT, June 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chance announced the marriage of their daughter Leah Jean to Earl Jury, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jury. The couple was married last Wednesday at Newport, Ky. The bride graduated from Mt. Zion high school in 1934 and is employed as a clerk in her father's grocery store in Wyandot. The groom is engaged in farming. They will make their home with Mrs. Jury's parents.

• • •

Over 100 neighbors and friends belled Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Jury Monday at the home of the bride's parents.

• • •

At the regular meeting of the board of education Monday evening at the school building two teachers were hired: Miss Helen Sheaffer for the fifth and sixth grades and Miss Lucile Jury for the third and fourth grades. Both are of Wyandot and graduate from Bowling Green university June 8

• • •

The girl's 4-H club met at the school building Thursday for the regular meeting. The meeting was in charge of the president Evelyn Bardon. Sewing and games were the entertainment for the afternoon. Later refreshments were served.

MASONIC LODGE PLANS MEETINGS

Special meetings were set for June 16 and 17 at a meeting of Sojourners Lodge No. 653, F. and A. M., last night. On June 16 the fellowcraft degree will be conferred and on June 17 there will be work in the master Mason degree. At the latter meeting officers from lodges in other cities will be guests.

MT. GILEAD COUPLE WEDDED IN TROY, O.

Helen Nesbitt and Harold Williams Recite Vows.

Special to The Star

DENMARK, June 4.—Miss Helen Nesbitt and Harold Williams both of Mt. Gilead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams were united in marriage Friday evening at the Presbyterian parsonage in Troy, O. The ceremony was read by Rev. Carl Winters, a former Mt. Gilead minister. They were attended by Miss Ruth Nesbit, sister of the bride and Richard Wagner both of Mt. Gilead. The bride wore a black silk ensemble suit embroidered in white with white accessories. Mrs. Williams is a graduate of the Mt. Gilead high school and has been a teacher in the Iberia schools for the last eight years. Mr. Williams is employed with George Dennis of Mt. Gilead as a decorator and painter. They will reside in Mt. Gilead at the present, and later in Denmark where Mr. Williams is building a house.

STOCKS RECEDE UNDER SELLING

Fractions to Two Point Drop Last Hour Linked to Uncertain News.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 4—Selling in specialties which showed momentum in the final hour dragged shares down fractions to about 2 points.

Although the closing tone was irregular to shake off earlier gains scored in a few sectors, transactions approximated 900,000 shares.

Trading in an irregularly lower start, stocks remained inactive awaiting news of the mounting unrest in France. Continued uncertainty over the situation was also seen as a depressant.

Selling was most pronounced in the specialties. Issues most depressed were du Pont, Westinghouse, American Can, Pullman, Sears Roebuck, Case, Chrysler, U. S. Steel and Bethlehem.

Shares which resisted the general decline included Air Reduction, Stone & Webster, Cerro De Pasco, Texas Sound and Texas Pacific Coal Oil.

Equivalent of about $28,000,000. The franc, at the beginning of foreign exchange transactions, was unchanged at 6.58¾ cents. Sterling was up 1¼ cents at $5.03⅛, a new peak since August, 1934.

Bonds and commodities were moderately mixed, sterling was strong as capital flight from the continent continued. The French franc and gold currencies slipped a shade either way.

The financial and labor troubles of the French, together with the Washington tax battle, continued as the principal market restraints. But analysts still viewed domestic industrial news as favorable.

The Bank of France, for the week ended May 29, showed a further gold loss amounting to the equivalent of about $28,000,000. The franc, at the beginning of foreign exchange transactions, was unchanged at 6.58¾ cents. Sterling was up 1¼ cents at $5.03⅛, a new peak since August, 1934.

Bonds and commodities were moderately mixed, sterling was strong as capital flight from the

NOTICE

Vada L. January, whose place of residence is unknown and cannot be ascertained, will take notice that on the 1st day of May, 1936, the plaintiff, Eldred W. January, filed his petition against her in the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio, the same being Cause No. 24267 in said Court, for the partition of certain real estate in said petition, described as follows:

Situated in the State of Ohio and in the Township of Claridon and bounded and described as follows:

Being part of the west half of the southwest quarter of Section number thirty-six (36) in Township number five (5) South Range number sixteen (16) east; commencing at a point in the west line of said Section, which point is one hundred and thirty-seven (137) feet northerly measured along said west line of said Section from the southwest corner thereof and which point is the northwest corner of the certain tract of land about a quarter of an acre in area, out of the southwest corner of said section now occupied by the Evangelical Church; thence northwardly along said west line of said Section number thirty-six (36) aforesaid, five hundred and twenty-four (524) feet and one (1) inch to the southwest corner of what is known as the grave yard lot; thence eastwardly along the south line of said grave yard lot one hundred and twenty-seven (127) feet to the southeast corner thereof; thence southwardly on a straight line five hundred and seventy (570) feet and six (6) inches to the northeast corner of said church lot and thence westwardly along the north line of said church lot one hundred and thirty two (132) feet and eight (8) inches to the place of beginning.

Said premises are a part of the same premises conveyed by Michael Click and wife to Benjamin F. Fox and Elizabeth Fox by deed dated March, 1919, and recorded in Volume number one hundred forty-four (144) at page three hundred and ninety-three (393) Deed Records of Marion County, Ohio, and are the same premises conveyed by the said Benjamin F. Fox and Elizabeth Fox to said The Beach Telephone Company by deed dated April 8th, 1910, recorded in Volume one hundred and forty-four (144) at page five hundred and six (506) of the Deed Records of Marion County, Ohio.

The prayer of said petition is for the partition of said real estate and for other equitable relief. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 20th day of June, 1936, or judgment will be taken against her.

ELDRED W. JANUARY, Plaintiff.
By Wilhelm & Robinson, His Attorneys.

NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas, Marion County, Ohio. Case No. 24267.

In the matter of the Prospect Street M. E. Church of the Lima District, of the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Notice is hereby given that on the 13th day of May, A. D., 1936, the Prospect Street M. E. Church of Marion, Ohio, filed its Petition in said Court, in Cause No. 24417, asking authority to sell the following described real estate:

Situated in the County of Marion, in the State of Ohio, and in the City of Marion, and bounded and described as follows: Known as Lot Number two thousand five hundred sixty-one (2561) in T. P. Waldo's First Addition to said City, and lot being 72.36 feet wide by 165 feet long.

The sale of said real estate is prayed for, for the reason that said property is no longer used for church or parsonage purposes, and for the further reason that it will be for the benefit of said church to sell the same and pay the indebtedness incurred, on account of the improvement of the residence on said real estate, and to obtain money to re-model another property that is now used for parsonage purposes. Said cause will be for hearing on June 15th, 1936, at 9:00 A. M.

PROSPECT STREET M. E. CHURCH, a corporation, not for profit.
By A. Krautter, President of the Board of Trustees.

DRY, HOT WEATHER SENDS WHEAT HIGHER

Advance at Liverpool and Sterling Jump Also Helps Chicago Prices.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 4 — Rainless skies and rising temperatures northwest, adverse conditions for the spring crop, gave an upward trend to wheat prices today. Besides, the Liverpool market was higher than due, and sterling again jumping 2 points.

Opening at ⅛@⅜ gain, July 84¾@⅞, September 88, wheat soon rose further. Corn started with ⅛@¼ advance, July 60¾, and continued to strengthen.

UNION LEADERS IN DEEP HUDDLE

Steel Men To Decide Whether To Accept Lewis Plan for Organizing Industry.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4—Leaders of a steel workers union went into a final momentous huddle today under a virtual ultimatum from John L. Lewis to decide definitely whether they will accept his plan to organize 500,000 men in the industry.

The decision, it was said in labor quarters, may provide the answer to the question whether the final breaking point has come after a long series of crises in the struggle between the craft and the industrial unionists in the American Federation of Labor.

Lewis, brawny president of the United Mine Workers, seeks to organize mass production workers by industries rather than by crafts. William Green, president of the A. F. of L., is leader of an opposing faction which places more stress than Lewis on craft unionization.

Officials of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers conferred with Lewis for two hours last night after which Lewis emerged to say that the meeting had been without results and that "this thing has got to be settled."

He set 8 o'clock tonight as the deadline for a decision among steel conferees including Louis Leonard Amalgamated secretary and treasurer, Thomas G. Gillis, Edward W. Miller and Joseph K. Gaither, vice presidents. Michael Tighe, 78-year-old president, was ill and unable to take part in the discussions.

The question asked by labor circles was:

If the Amalgamated decides not to accept the Lewis plan, will the mine chief make good his threat to try the unionization job on his own initiative and thus incur the further wrath of craft unionists on the A. F. of L. executive council?

Already plans are reported afoot to have nine big unions siding with Lewis suspended from federation membership.

FOREST BLAZE HAZARD SHIFTS

Record Number of Fires In East Followed by Sweep Toward West.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 4—A westward sweep of forest fire hazards, after an abnormal record of more than 5,800 forest blazes in the east since the turn of the year, was shown today by a telegraphic survey.

After studying today's reports from national park areas, forest service officials said that although recent rains had helped some, serious spots still appeared in the western states.

Bad in Southwest

In forests in Arizona and southern New Mexico, it was reported, a "high hazard" exists, while in the Cleveland forest in southern California the situation was reported as an "abnormal risk." Elsewhere in California, however, conditions were favorable.

A "medium to low hazard" was reported for the entire eastern part of the country, including Virginia, Kentucky and the White Mountain areas.

Some danger was noted in eastern Tennessee, western North Carolina, and northern Georgia.

Assistant Forester C. M. Granger said in the three eastern regions, comprising all the country east of the Mississippi river, there was an average of 1,100 fires a year from 1931 to 1935, but from Jan. 1 to June 1 of this year, he said, there have been more than 5800
